Mt. Lake Park Days Observance Plans Finalized

Final touches have been made to the schedule of events for Mt. Lake Park Days, slated for Monday and Tuesday, July 11-12, according to Mary I. Love, project director. The purpose of the program, which is sponsored by the Maryland Humanities Council, is to recall some of the town's colorful past, including the Chautauqua programs, using slide presentations, photographs and stories, along with an opportunity to visit some of the old Mt. Lake Park houses.

The program will get underway at 7:30 p.m., Monday at the Assembly Hall with a welcome by Mt. Lake Park Mayor Russell Alexander, followed by a slide program entitled "Once Upon A Mountaintop, 1881-1911" by Dr. Kathy Peiss, of the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, and Alfreda Irwin, of the Chautauqua Institute, New York. The Assembly Hall, or Old Auditorium (Tabernacle) is located along the west side of G street, just south of State Rt.

Following the slide presentation there will be a soiree, or reception, which will feature exhibits and refreshments which were common in the hotels and boarding houses of Mt. Lake Park several decades investigated a number of accidents throughout the district this week, which resulted in personal injury, property damage, and traffic citations.

Frances L. Moorehead, 48, Westernport, was treated at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, and released Tuesday following an accident on Rt. 135 near the Chestnut Ridge Road in Garrett

Tfc. Chester Miller reported With the assistance of Garrett the woman was westbound on Rt. 135, and in the process of passing a truck. As she got along the side of the truck, she observed a coal truck coming toward her. She apparently oversteered to the right, causing her vehicle to slide sideways into a culvert.

She was charged with negligent driving. The accident occurred about 2:10 p.m.

A 17-year-old Oakland youth was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a car-motorcycle accident Tuesday evening on U. S. Route 219, near Silver Knob Road.

Police say a 1974 Yamaha motorcycle driven by the juvenile entered Rt. 219 from a private road, failed to grant the right of way, and crashed into a vehicle being operated by Stephen G. Fisher, 24, of Morgantown, W.Va., which was traveling north on Rt. 219. Tfc. personnel there.

L. N. Smith investigated. A Frostburg man, Thomas W. Bishop, 18, remains hospitalized following a motorcycle accident which occurred near In Boating Mishap the Long Stretch Youth Home on Rt. 40, six miles west of Frostburg.

Police say the motorcycle was going around a left curve when it veered off the right shoulder. The driver apparently oversteered to the left, causing the motorcycle to upset. It traveled nearly 200 feet on its side, coming to rest in the road-

The State Police Medevac helicopter transported 17-month-old Natalie Stout of Clarksburg, W.Va., to West Virginia University Hospital in Morgantown Sunday afternoon after the child reportedly fell from a porch and landed on her head. The helicopter crew picked up the child after it met Southern Rescue Squad's ambulance along U.S. Route 48, which was already enroute to the hospital.

According to medical personnel, the child was being held by her father, who was leaning on a porch bannister when the structure gave way, and the two fell approximately 10 feet to the ground. The family was visiting relatives at the time of the accident.

She was treated at the medical center and released Tuesday, according to

Georgia Youth Injured Monday

A young man from Georgia was injured Monday afternoon in a motorboat accident on Deep Creek Lake.

Details are incomplete at this time, but the victim, Clark Frazee, 19, of Marriett, Ga., was apparently struck by the boat propeller. Frazee was a passenger in the boat, and no charges have been filed against the operator.

PRESIDENTIAL VISIT - Among the thousands of persons who visited Mt. Lake Park in the early part of this century was President William H. Taft, who came to the Park in August of 1911 to give a speech at the amphitheatre, which was at one time located along Rt. 135 near G Street. President Taff, pictured above as he was leaving the amphitheatre, used the topic of "peace" for his talk in front of at least 5,000 people, according to the 1911 diary of the late Mrs. T. D. Richards, whose husband operated the Chautauqua Hotel in Mt. Lake Park at one time. The negative of the above photo was discovered just a few weeks ago in the diary by Mrs. Ruth B. Weirich, granddaughter of Mrs. Richards. The above print was then made by Herbert Miller, Mt. Lake Park, Mrs. Richards' diary has provided much information to members of the Mt. The police were notified last Monday that someone had broken into three vending machines in the park which are owned by Ivan Miller, Grantsville. The machines were stored in a building in the park. Approximately $60 damage was done to the three machines when attempts were made to pry them open.

State Police also reported a breaking and entering at Tilgner's Drive-In, located in McHenry. Vandals entered the soft ice cream stand near Deep Creek Lake and stole money from the machines inside. Total loss was estimated at $240, plus seven dollars worth of miscellaneous merchandise, and $100 in damage to the machines.

In last week's issue of The Republican in a story on the farm news page, it stated that Ban Whiting, secretary/treasurer of the Maryland Farm bureau, would be one of the speakers at the annual Garrett County Farm Bureau picnic. The correct spelling of his name is Van Whiting. The Republican regrets the typographical error.

Death By Technology . . .

Technology is a marvelous thing. The incredible scientific strides that have happened during the past several decades and which are presently occurring at an unbelievable pace continue to change our lifestyles. Advances via computers in such areas as medicine, communication, transportation and household conveniences have improved the quality

There are, of course, some negative results of all this change, some of the obvious being new forms of pollution, the loss of jobs and inferior quality of various items because of mass production. Some of the other negative aspects are, however, more subtle.

Next week the town of Mt. Lake Park will for two days celebrate its 100-plus years of existence by taking an imaginary trip backward in time in an attempt to get a taste of what life was like in that town about 70 years ago. Mt. Lake Park was a famous, prosperous resort area, which attracted thousands of visitors from all over the country every summer who came to take advantage of the cool, virtually disease-free, mountain air and enjoy the numerous cultural, educational and entertaining slate of activities known as the Chautauqua program. There were operas, plays, recitations, musical offerings, lectures and even circus acts, on a daily basis, many involving famous actors, artists and politicians. Most of the major programs were held in an amphitheatre which seated 5,000 persons. The 26 hotels and boarding houses in the town were often packed to capacity throughout the summer.

During the 1930s and 40s, however, it all gradually began to disappear. The masses stopped coming to the Park, the programs ended, and the amphitheatre was torn down, as were many of the boarding houses and hotels.

One of the main reasons for the town's decline was technology. Automobiles allowed travel not nearly as restrictive as that of railroads. The emergence of air conditioning provided a more convenient avenue of escape from the oppressive heat and humidity of the city. Television and the advancement of motion pictures replaced other forms of recreation and activities. Improvements in air transportation enticed the regular Mt. Lake Park visitor to spend his vacation time at more distant resorts, such as Florida. Cures for numerous diseases more common in urban areas encouraged persons to stay at home instead of fleeing to the mountaintop in an attempt to escape the illnesses.

The Chautauqua is no doubt gone forever, which is sad. Wouldn't it be nice to have a time machine, so one could go back and experience such former times? Of course, there were many more miserable and dangerous facts of life then than there are now, so brief visits would be advisable.

Perhaps one day (through technology, no doubt) we will be able to better preserve more of the colorful, enjoyable aspects of another era which are now nothing more than history

Note: It was great to see several thousand persons set aside the video games, televisions and problems of life on Monday and come to Broadford Park for a day of fun and fellowship. Good food, people interacting with people and a game of horse shoes will always be fashionable.

A Monongalia County Circuit Court Judge has the awesome responsibility of deciding whether color photographs of a child who died after being severely paddled at the Stonegate commune, near Kabletown, W. Va., should be shown to jurors deciding the fate of the child's mother, who is accused, along with his father, of paddling the child to death.

Defense attorneys for Mrs. Leslie Green argue that the pictures are gruesome, and should not be allowed as evidence. Yes, read that sentence again. Defense attorneys for Mrs. Green argue that the pictures are gruesome, and should not be allowed as evidence.

Jefferson County Prosecutor Braum Hamstead argues that the pictures are necessary to show how badly the two-year-old baby was beaten.

If there is any justice for a dead child whose life was taken at the hands of adults, let us hope Judge Frand DePond has little trouble deciding to turn the evidence of the battered child over to the jury. Approximately five children die from abuse each and every day. Those who survive are often scarred for life, often ending up in mental institutions or in jail. Many more grow up to abuse their own children.

A helpless, dependent baby was destroyed. Nothing can bring him back, but the laws of the land must be worked in such a way that some justice is shown to the dead child. Estimates (that cannot be accurate, because so many persons don't report) tell us that at least one million innocent children are victims of child abuse, and at least 2000 die every year.

Nothing and no one can ever stop the heinous crime of child abuse, but judges and lawyers, doctors and teachers can at least prevent and deter a small portion.

Judge DePond has that opportunity at this time. Hopefully,

Treatment of high blood pressure, this study found, even treatment of so-called "mild" high blood pressure, resulted in significantly fewer deaths from strokes and heart attacks.

Evidence that high blood pressure control works and that people believe in its benefits is not hard to find today. More patients with high blood pressure are visiting their doctors, and doctors are writing more prescriptions for drugs to treat high blood pressure than ever before. In 1972, only about 16 percent of people with high blood pressure had their disease under control. That number more than doubled in the ensuing decade, the most recent figures indicating that an estimated 34 percent of people with high blood pressure today have the

Don't just sit there—learn something

by Harry Fox

More people are discovering that public television has a lot more to offer than just instructional TV programs and dry, lifeless interviews. Some of the best dramatic and informational programs of recent years, "Masterpiece Theatre," for instance, or 'Cosmos," have been found on the PBS channel.

For Garrett County citizens, however, public television offers an even more unique service. It serves as our only real source of statewide news coverage, save only radio news and the state news in both The Republican and, to a somewhat greater extent, in the Times/News papers from Cumberland.

Of course, a lot of the "news" from the east isn't very important to us. But there are dozens of issues and controversies about which we should know, since decisions are made every day in the halls of government that affect us.

This Friday, July 8, at 7:00 p.m., Maryland Public Broadcasting will premiere a documentary program devoted to statewide and local issues affecting the quality of life in Maryland. 'State Line," broadcast locally on channel 36 (Oakland cable 8) has announced an initial schedule of topics that should be of great interest to Garrett County residents:

July 8-the increasing number of teenage pregnancies; July 15-legalized, and illegal, gambling; July 22-hazardous wastes, and how sites are selected throughout the state; July 29-hazardous wastes and disposal technology. Now, of course, every topic will not be of overwhelming importance to Garrett County viewers. But the initial schedule

This Friday evening we'll have an opportunity to give up a few reruns and, just possibly, learn something. We could even suggest a few topics of interest to us.

Here's hoping that our state PBS system follows through on 'State Line" and its announced intentions.

happened, and they sense that their proximity to these new premium locations makes them particularly vulnerable. One, who attended a meeting held to consider the grants, gave the parents' old home as an example. They bought it in the mid-sixties for less than $5,000. It sold recently for $95,000. The growth in value is phenomenal, but with scanty resources, the owner's tax burden can become unbearable sounds promising.

It seems the group weighing the merits of the grant proposals had little choice except to pick the lesser of two evils. They were warned that should they reject block grants, the chances are strong that outside developers willing to take risks would come in and rehabilitate the properties to much higher levels than envisaged under the grants, and most likely sell them at very much higher prices than presently contemplated.

But back to the question posed. The assessors are strictly searching for value; how it got there is of very little concern to them. The study of the dynamics of the market is the province of the economist. They use the various approaches in estimating the value of property as are applied in the appraisal profession but the conclusion must be reconciled with the actual market condition. If, following rehabilitation, values increase, whether from this or other reasons, then these values will be discovered, They can cite one community as the term goes, and the new habilitation and home owner- after another, one classic assessments will be based on ship assistance is giving some example being Baltimore's them. For most school districts the children have been out of the classroom for only one month. Already I've noticed several mothers who have aged beyond recognition.

I look back in fond remembrance of my years spent in classrooms that reeked of disinfectant and chalk dust. I miss the ear-shattering bells, the pushing and shoving, the musty clanking radiators and George Washington's portrait plastered with spitballs  $\ldots$  Come to think of it,  $\Gamma$  ve just described the last news room I worked in.

I've taught several classes during the past five years and it has immensely increased my respect for teachers. I was ill equipped to deal with students who greeted their next assignment with a Bronx raspberry; who slapped each other every time I turned my back, or who called in bomb threats whenever I scheduled a test-all that from an adult college night class.

I attended inner-city schools, the type of school where the principal is accustomed to seeing his name in spray paint. Principals weren't very effective when I was a student. Law and order was maintained by the class bully who had an odd sense of justice and threatened to break the face of anyone who refused to share their "Good'n Plentys" with him. One such bully was assassinated during a third period political coup.

In my day, we had no need of guidance counselors or school psychologists. Our only goal in life was to graduate with all of our internal organs intact.

We didn't have "learning disabilities," "gifted children," 'intra-personal skills," or such back then. You were either classified as the teacher's pet, a moron, a tattle-tale, or know-itall, or a thug. We made it so simple in those days.

In high school they began importing teachers with ominous sounding course titles. I took "Primitive Sociology," from a lady who was the Marquis de Sade's sister. For an entire semester she described what I thought was my gym class. Turns out she was lecturing on a trip in New Guinea.

I even took three years of Latin from a former nun. After her experiences at my school it would've taken a papal decree to get her to return to the classroom. Now the only Latin I can remember is "Ego ama te," which nearly got me married to an Ancient History co-ed in college. Today's kids sit in classrooms that resemble airport terminals and sometimes several grade levels are combined. That couldn't have been done in my school days. I recall turning to my locker partner, Arnold "Bruiser" Billingsworth in seventh grade and declaring, "fifth graders make me sick." Nowadays, teachers will some times turn out the classroom lights and allow the children to watch educational TV. That wouldn't have worked either with my buddles and me.

When Miss Holsinger turned out the lights during our weekly science move, we'd take the chalk erasers and beat the daylights out of them on Angela Tortinis' head. I saw Angie last Christmas. She still has gray hair and complains of migraines.

minds of those already living near the neighborhoods being targeted for rehabilitation is: Will the restoration of these properties result in an upward spiraling of property values and assessments, leading in turn to a tripling of taxes for all the surrounding properties?" Their worry is that the answer is yes, and the very real fear for some is that those who have struggled so hard to keep their homes, many of whom are members of families who have lived in these older sections for several generations, will then be forced out on account of their inability to afford the ensuing and everincreasing higher property

Kenneth Shifflett, Chief, Food Distribution Section, State Department of Education, said the Title II program offers much wider variety of foods than previous programs, but very limited quantities. "The best we can hope to do with the quantities we will receive will be to serve the very neediest," Shifflett said. He said the cutbacks in dairy products distribution by the U.S. Department of Education of Agriculture is particularly acute compared with programs in 1981 and 1982.

To insure the neediest people are served, Shifflett said, local distribution agencies will be required to limit distribution to persons who receive food stamps, medicaid, welfare or AFDC payments, supplemental social security income, or are unemployed.

Consumers who contemplate obtaining an equity or other whether they will be able to make the required repayments throughout the loan period and pay off the balance at the end of it, particularly if it is tied to a variable rate, where the amount of the monthly payment could change. Consumers also should explore the variety of possibilities of obtaining the loan they want, weighing both costs and risks.

The new credit deregulation law significantly changes the rules governing credit cards and other loans obtained from Maryland retailers, banks, consumer loan companies, mortgage brokers and other creditors:

* It now is legal for lenders and retailers to charge membership fees for the use of a credit card. A lender, but not a retailer, may also charge a fee each time the consumer uses the card, as well as a minimum charge for each month the consumer has an outstanding balance. . Credit grantors that do not choose to charge these new fees on their credit cards may instead eliminate the 25-day "float" period on purchase balances during which consumers who pay their bills on time avoid interest charges, Interest then can be charged from the moment the purchase is made with the credit card.

* Retailers do have the option of charging a transaction fee, a monthly billing fee or an annual membership fee for their credit cards, but they cannot impose all three, as can banks and other leanders. Merchants also may choose to eliminate the 'float' rather than charge new fees.

. Lenders may now charge vision of the Attorney General's well as late fees if a bill is not paid on time

The facilities plan was prepared and presented by Thomas B. Bourne Inc. engineering firm and explained by Tom Bourne. Cost estimates of $1,360,000 for the Kitzmiller-Shallmar system were also presented.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Kitzmiller agreed that the sanitary commission should proceed with obtaining grant funds and determine if it would be feasible to sewer Blaine. If grant funds should be available, the commission will work with Kitzmiller officials to decide whether to proceed with design and construction of the system.

The record will remain open for ten days, until July 11, to allow citizens to provide written comments if they wish. Comments may be directed to Wendell Beitzel, Room 200, Garrett County Courthouse.

> the injured. According to Tfc. Larry Rosage, who investigated, a car operated by Joyce Marie Trickett, Route 1, Kitzmiller, was stopped in the westbound lane in heavy traffic to make a left turn. A car operated by Harvey B. Findley, Durben, W. Va., was stopped behind the Trickett vehicle.

> A third car, operated by David Scott Stem, Mt. Lake Park, struck the Findley car, which in turn hit the Trickett vehicle Stem, who was only slightly injured, was charged by Tfc. Rosage with operating at a speed too great for conditions

Two passengers in the Trickett vehicle, Edison Trickett and Ambel Mickelinc, Waldorf, were injured. Passengers in the Findley car were unhurt. The injured from the Trickett car were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

At 12:35 p.m., a similar mishap occurred on Route 219, but no one was injured.

According to Tfc. Rosage's record report, a car operated by Connie Sue Wakefield, Route 1, Friendsville, was stopped in the northbound lane waiting to make a left turn.

The Wakefield vehicle was struck from behind by one operated by John Wayne Mc-Cloud, Route 2, Terra Alta, W. Va. McCloud was charged with operating at a speed too great for conditions.

THE FUTURE BELONGS TO THOSE WHO PREPARE FOR

Make this the summer that your son or daughter learns familiarity with computers. A few hours of time invested each day or a few days a week in learning how to program and operate a computer can make this the summer that gives them the competitive edge.

Schools wills provide as much computer training as their limited resource will permit, but motivation to learn starts in the home. Access to tools of learning need not be limited to school hours. Books in the home encourage language skills; hands on acquaintance with machinery taught American youth facility with motorized equipment. Computer skills are best learned the same way, with opportunity to experiment and practice at

A computer having capabilities to provide your child with years of use is available for a hundred dollars. Englander's Pharmacy offers the VIC-20, mfr. by Com-modore, or the TI-99/4A computer mfr. by Texas Instruments. Either will connect to your present black and white or color TV. Instruction manuals with step by step instructions in programming techniques. calculating, color, graphics, & musical composing come with the computer.

These computers are not toys. They are advanced machines that will provide months and years of challenge both to the starting novice and the full fledged techie.

The TI-99/4A sold for $700 when introduced in 1979, and for $400 at the beginning of 1983; the VIC-20 cost $300 as recently as 2 months ago. he full price at Englander's Pharmacy for the VIC-20 is $99.95; the T1-99/4A is $149.95. less a $50 factory rebate. Englander's has two persons prepared to offer consultation and guidance to learners over rough spots and to offer suggestions for additional computer techniques and appli-Englander's encourages you to act now, with the whole summer ahead, to make this a summer of accomplishment for your son or daughter. The future is going to be divided between the haves and the have nots. Those raised with computers are going to be the haves.

Plans have been finalized for the 62nd annual Western Maryland Tennis Championsh ps, Oakland A (36) according to Earle Palmer Brown, executive vice president of the Mt. Lake Park Tennis Club and tournament di-

The tournament, one of the nation's oldest sanctioned amateur events, will be held August 2-7 at the Mt. Lake Park courts and other area courts and is expected to draw its usual number of outstanding amateur players from a several hundred mile radius. Qualifying play will begin on Tuesday, August 2, and regular play is slated to get underway at noon on Wednesday, August 3. Categories of play include men's and women's singles 2-0-4, D. competition in several age categories, men's doubles in three age groups, mixed doubles and women's doubles.

The usual annual social events are also slated to be held in conjunction with the tournament, according to Manning Smith, chairman of the entertainment committee. The President's Reception will be held at the Davis-DeGrafft Cottage in Mt. Lake Park on Wednesday evening, August 3; there will be a buffet dinner at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake on the evening of August 4: the annual corn roast at the Thomasson and Pollard cottages, Mt. Lake Park, will be held on the evening of August 5; and a courtside chili party will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Green, Shady Acres, on August 6. Serving as tournament referee will be Dave DeGrafft, who is also president of the Tennis Club. John Noble, Columbus, Ohio, will be the tournament umpire and Kathie Smith, Mt. Lake Park, is tournament secretary.

Other Tennis Club officers include: Jack Jones, vice president; Nelson Thomasson, vice president; Sam Eastman, vice president/ways and means; Mimi DeGrafft, recording secretary; Karen Woodell, treasurer; and Dorothy Frame, correspondence tary/membership.

Persons desiring more information or tournament entry forms may contact Kathie Smith at P.O. Box 157, Mt. Lake Park, phone 334-3249.

SHS Football Physicals Set

Physicals for Southern High School students who plan to play football this fall will be conducted at the school on Tuesday, July 12, by team physicians, Drs. Jared Zelman and Dan Miller, it was announced this week by the coaching staff. Players must have physicals before they are allowed to participate in the program.

Student athletes other than football players are also invited to attend and receive physicals.

Youth Football League Try-Outs Set For Saturday

The Mountain Top Youth Football League will be holding league tryouts for the Oakland Jets and Oakland Raider Football teams this Saturday, July 9, at 1 p.m. at Southern Middle School.

The time of the tryouts was changed from 9 a.m. due to the fishing rodeo at Broadford Park.

In order to qualify, youth must be 10 years old by the time they play in their first game and not have reached the age of 14 by August 1 of the league year. Youth entering the ninth grade are ineligible and they may not play more than one year as eighth graders.

A very limited number of positions exist for the two Oakland teams, however, all reasonable efforts will be made to fill both Oakland teams from those players who show up for the draft, according to league officials. Persons with questions regarding the draft may contact Joe Everd, who is the head coach of Pregnancy requires a lot nutrition in teen agers than it does in adults," he said. "Of course teen agers are more apt to fast and feast during pregnancy - eat a lot, be disturbed by weight gains, then fast," he continued. His malyses of data from the U.S. Collaborative Perinatal Project show that during the last trimester of pregnancy fasting for more than 24 hours reduces the nutrients available to the fetus and is associated with an increased death rate of fetuses.

But eating well may not protect the fetus from the detrimental effects of smoking, Dr. Naeye warned. Some doctors had assumed that increasing the birthweights of babies by raising the pregnant woman's food intake and by increasing her weight gain than in non-smokers.

Law Clarifies Bicycle Use On Maryland Roadways

As of July 1, 1983, much of the ambiguity regarding bicycle use of Maryland's highways ended. The Maryland Department of Transportation and the State Highway Administration, with assistance and support of local bicycle organizations, introduced a bill in the 1983 Maryland Legislative Session (subsequently passed and became law on July 1) clarifying, to bicyclists and police departments alike, which highways bicyclists have legal access to. Section 21-1205.1 of the Annotated Code of Maryland will no longer prohibit bicycles from all controlled access highways, (those highways to which private land owners may not have direct access via driveways). Instead, bicycles will be prohibited from "Expressways." An Expressway is defined as having: divided roadways; two or more travel lanes in each direction: interchanges instead of intersection onto local highways and other characteristics meeting Interstate Highway Standards.

This class of highway is indicated by double green or yellow lines on the Maryland State Highway Map. The map is available, free of charge, from the State Highway Administration Map Distribution Center, 2323 West Joppa Road, Brooklandville, Md. 21022.

On other controlled access highways, the Maryland Department of Transportation may prohibit bicycle uses. If that decision is made, the Department is required to post signs clearly noting that prohibition

The prohibition on bicycle use of the roadway of a highway posted at greater than 50 mph has been retained in law. This means that where a bicycle is permitted on a controlled access highway and if that highway is posted with a speed limit greater than 50 mph, the bicyclist must use the shoulder.

For a complete list of bicycle prohibitions on State owned non-expressway, controlled access highways in Maryland, persons may contact Steven R. McHenry, Maryland State Highway Administration, Bicycle Affairs Coordinator, Room 218, 707 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Md. 21202, or telephone (301) 659-1663.

A recent broadcast sponsored by the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center and The Prudential Insurance Company focused on childhood hyper-

Dr. Jared Zelman of Oakland, Maryland, says a child's behavior reflects frustration from his or her anxiety. "It is important to emember that anxiety is the key commonality of the hyperactive child," reports Dr. Zelman, "We must identify the source of the frustration which is causing the anxiety, and provide treatment for it. Among its causes, hyperactivity can reflect the boredom of a bright child, or the despair of a slow one. A physician must speak with child's teachers, family and the child himself to determine the root of the problem. There are a wide array of treatment options available, ranging from simple counseling to drug therapy.

These children can be helped, and we can offer em something," says Dr. Zelman. The message is to get the diagnosis early, determine the specific problem and deal with it appropriately. According to Dr. Zelman, children whose actions in the past have been disruptive and self-defeating can behave and be productive, if they are treated as soon as this be havior is recognized.

nutrition

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

July is the month when we bring out the red, white and blue. We think of all our freedoms. It is the month of Independence. Let us all celebrate with a star spangled picnic with some of the good recipes the American Heart Association Cook Book has to offer. This salad recipe is great for a July celebration.

Macaroni Salad Ricotta 1/4 pound whole wheat macaroni, cooked until tender drained and chilled. 1 cup Ricotta cheese 2 teaspoons mustard

1 tablespoon low fat yogurt

1/4 cup sliced ripe olives 1 green pepper, chopped coarsely

2 scallions with tops, chopped 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

red pimiento to taste 1/2 teaspoon each of dill and basil freshly ground black pepper

Make a dressing with the consistency of mayonnaise by thinning the mustard with a tablespoon or more of yogurt and mixing with the Ricotta. Stir in all other ingredients. Serve on a bed of salad greens.

Yield: 4 servings Approx. Cal/Serv.: 170

The American Heart Association's Nutrition Education Committee is committed to providing positive ideas to help consumers learn good eating habits. The theme for this month is Independence. Have you ever really thought about what freedom means to you? Americans enjoy more freedom and independence than any other country in the world. Yet we often take if for granted. As a country we can worship at the church of our choice, live where we want to and speak our minds frankly. Let's use this month to think about the liberties we enjoy so freely in this

SIGNS OF HAPPINESS, even among little brother and sister, were plentiful Monday at the annual Old Fashioned Family Day Picnic, held at Broadford Recreation Area. Several thousand persons attended to enjoy the old fashioned prices, picnicking, swimming, games and fellowship. Over one fon of French fries were sold, nearly 5,000 ears of corn, hundreds of gallons of soft drinks, scores of hot dogs, and thousands of ice cream cones. The sunny July weather was interrupted only

New Germany Park Events Scheduled

A campfire program and a visit from a wagon train are two events scheduled to take place at New Germany State Park. The campfire program will be held this evening, July 6, at 8:30 p.m. at the Old Schoolhouse Nature Center. A slide presentation, entitled "Coast of Maine" will be presented by Ken Hodgden, a naturalist from LaVale.

On July 12 and July 14, the Mountain Top Wagon Train, led by Donald Russell, Barton, will visit the park. The train, which consists of several old fashioned wagons and many horseback riders, will arrive at approximately 11:30 a.m. both days. It will pass through the park and stop in a field adjacent to the camping area. The public is invited to greet the wagon train members, ask questions and take photos.

was turned over to the guests, Dusty Stanton, media resource cooridinator, and Albert Ringer, superintendent of curriculum, for the Garrett County Board of Education. Ringer spoke on the renovation of Northern High School. He stated Northern is the oldest high school and needs to be built to allow for what is to be taught. It will cost over two million dollars and will provide more room for Vocational Agriculture. It will be an 18-month project and he said it will result in "quite a lot of inconvenience" during the work. Meetings will be held at Northern from time to time and the public is asked to attend and submit any helpful ideas they may have.

Stanton explained the operation and advantages of computers. He brought four computers with him and all had the opportunity to learn how to use them.

Death In Cards

"There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Proverbs 14:12). Church member, have you ever thought of what you are playing with when you are playing with a deck of cards? Let me tell you in the following words the meaning of a deck of

Down through the ages a deck of cards has been looked upon with suspicion. Men who were not religious have insisted that cards were indecent.

The Puritans called a deck of cards "The Devil's Picture Book." The first deck of cards was made for Charles of France in the year 1392. King Charles was an insane man. It is not generally known by the card players that cards have a secret meaning. The information I will give you here comes from professional gamblers. After the following statements were made public, the members of the gambling fraternity declared that they are absolutely true. The following will give the meaning of a deck of cards with which church members, and even preachers are playing these days. I trust that after reading the meaning of them, you will never play with them again. The king card represents the enemy of God and all his unrighteousness, the devil. The ten spot represents the spirit of lawlessness and is in direct opposition to the Ten Commandments of the Bible. Closely associated with the ten spot is the club card. When cards were invented the club was the weapon of the murderer. In those days there were no revolvers or machine guns. The club card stands for murder. The jack represents the lustful libertine who lives on the gains of the prostitutes. It represents the moral leper. There is a game of cards called "the brothel game" in which the players use the secret obscene language of the cards and converse with each other by merely dropping a

Now we come to the part that is even more shockingly wicked. The queen card represents the Virgin Mary, the mother of our Lord. In the secrets of cards she is called the mother of harlots. The joker in card language represents our Lord Jesus Christ. Joker means fool. As if this is not bad enough yet, the secret language of a deck of cards goes even further and declares that Jesus (the joker card) is the offspring of a lustful jack, and the (queen) mother, Mary, which in card language represents the mother of harlots.

And there you have the true meaning of a deck of socalled innocent playing cards, ladies and gentlemen. I do hope that the next time you touch them God will smite you in your conscience with such conviction of your sin that you will fall on your face crying out, "What must I do to be saved?" Are you walking on one of those ways which seems

May I inform you that unless you have found the Lord Jesus Christ as your Saviour and Lord, you will die in your sin and go to hell.

I will show you in a few words the right way to go to the place called heaven. Heaven is a prepared place for a

The Lord Jesus said, "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life" (John 14:6). He (Christ) is the way for going, the truth for knowing and the life for growing. Christ is the way, my friend. He is not the way which seemeth right, but He is the right way. Other things may seem right to a man, but in the sight of God they are all wrong. God will open heaven's gates to you only when you will come to Christ as a poor, lost, hell-bound sinner and plead no righteousness of your own, or any merits of your own. God saves people by grace. plus nothing. Have you found the right way? Jesus said, "I am the Way." "Therefore, if any man be in Christ he is a new creature, old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." (II Cor. 5:17) Sent in by Mrs. J. Remmerde

Families Are Fum

Families are fun! The best days are when we do things together. And there are lots of important things we need to do together.

Like worshipping God.

Family life isn't just smiling and togetherness. It is growing in conviction and character. Each week that we spend in our Church or Synagogue, we are building the strong spiritual foundation of our family's future.

Background Scripture: Judges 13 thro-Devotional Reading: Acts 15:6-11.

Physically he was very strong. As a person, however, Samson was very weak. Although he had fantastic strength and could subdue large numbers of Philistines, he could not subdue himself. He could kill a lion but he could not tame the heast within himself. Even today his name is virtually synonymous with "strongman," but the scriptures speak much more of his fatal weakness.

SELF MEDICATION IS A POTENTIAL DANGER

Even physicians are far from agreement about the practice of self-medication. If everyone went to their doctors at every sign of illness it would be impossible for the medical profession to handle the deluge of patients that would descend upon them. The more seriously ill would suffer most for there would not be enough of the time needed for them. But, self-medication must be carried out wisely. One good rule is . . . if certain symptoms keep returning. it is time to have your doctor find the cause. When we notice a customer is often buying a particular nonprescription remedy we will always suggest that they should see their doctor.

By Val Carew BAD NEWS, GOOD NEWS — Is it true that "Fame" has been canceled for next season" Is it possible it might move to another network? Why didn't Dorisgo with the cast to London'

1.G. Harrisburg, Va. NBC did cancel the series. However, there is a plan to produce new shows, which would then be syndicated to local stations. Despite the low ratings - it was opposite Tom Selleck's "Magnum, P.I." — the show had a lot of loyal tans. The syndication deal is not delinite, and the package, if put together, may not be aired until after the first of 1984. but it is a distinct possibility. Valerie Landsburg, who plays Doris, was under the weather when the cast went to London. However, she joined them on a later tour.

times the chemistry between actors is so powerful that the distinction between what acted and what is felt becomes blurred. As a testament to Damion's acting abili y such was the case with Damion and his former Texas" mom. Pamela Long-Hammer (she's now the head writer of "Guiding Light" Damion is one of the few child actors who doesn't come up with what I call the 'canned kid stuff' contrived to elicit a cheap emotional response," says Pamela, "He's competitive with any adult actor. He will cry on camera and real tears will form in his eyes. His imagination is so astute and his grasp so incredible, that I learned something from him; how to emerse vourself so in a story that your emotions actually come from your character."

On "SFT." Damion will be working a lot with another talented young actor, Stacy Glick (Andy McNeil), and if the chemistry between these two bright youngsters is right. they should make for a fun pre-teen summer story line.

Catherine Mary Stewart (Kayla Brady) of "Days of Our Lives" has announced her engagement to actor John Findlater. Miss Stewart, who has been noticebly absent from the show lately, is also filming a role in the feature film "The Last Star Fighter."

Travel Expenses For Teachers May Be Deductible

With the approach of the summer months, teachers who travel to maintain or enhance their educational skills may be able to deduct the expenses as education expenses on their Federal income tax returns, Elizabeth McComas, Elsie according to the Baltimore Office of the Internal Revenue Service.

The expenses, however, qualify only if a major part of the activities during the travel Evelyn Kahl, Catherine Van- directly maintains or improves skills required in work or business, says the IRS.

> For instance, Jane Doe, a French language teacher on sabbatical leave granted for travel, plans to tour France to improve her knowledge of the French language. Her itinerary includes visiting French schools and families, and attending movies, plays and lectures in the French language. She can deduct her travel expenses as educational expenses, according to the IRS.

On the other hand, teachers of English or mathematics could not deduct expenses of a similar

Claimants May Collect FSC For Only Eight Weeks

Maryland's unemployment insurance claimants can now collect Federal Supplemental Compensation (FSC) benefits a maximum of eight weeks.

According to officials at the Maryland Employment Security Administration, the maximum number of weeks a claimant may collect FSC benefits is determined by the Insured Unemployment Rate (IUR) in each state. The IUR, which is different from the regular unemployment rate, is based on the number of unemployed workers covered by the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law.

During the week of June 11, 1983, the IUR in Maryland dropped to 3.88 percent, reducing the maximum FSC eligibility period from 10 to eight weeks for all FSC claimants. Therefore, no claimant filing for FSC benefits after June 26, 1983, will be eligible to collect those benefits for more than eight weeks.

The Employment Security Administration will notify all individuals who are currently re-

Helmick Attending NEA Convention

John D. Helmick, a teacher in Garrett County and a member of the Garrett County Teachers Association, is among the Maryland delegates presently attending the 121st annual National Education Association Convention in Philadelphia.

Some 8,000 delegates from throughout the nation are meeting at the Philadelphia Civic Center, where quality public education and how to achieve it will be the dominant issue. NEA delegates are dealing with the issues of school finance, maximum standards for teachers and students, higher teacher salaries, incentives to ceiving Federal Supplemental attract students into teaching, upgrading of textbooks, the use of the new technology in schools, and the American Defense Education Act, a broadbased bill aimed at meeting the nation's economic and technological challenges. Other controversial issues expected to be debated are teacher education, proposals members.

for master and merit pay plans, tuition tax credits, the Equal Rights Amendment, education vouchers, school prayer, and censorship in the schools. Several presidential candidates are expected to attend to court the delegates in the hope of winning the endorsement of the NEA and its 1.7 million

Gen. Broadwater Retires From U.S. Air Force

Major General Ted Broadwater, a native of Isabella, Pa., and summer resident of Deep Creek Lake, retired from the United States Air Force on July 1, following more than 31 years of military service.

During his retirement ceremony in the Pentagon, General Broadwater was presented the Distinguished Service Medal by Lieutenant General Lynwood Clark, Commander of the Alaskan Air Command.

Broadwater graduated from Brownsville Senior High School in Brownsville, Pa., in 1948 and then attended Greenbrier Military School in Lewisburg, W. Va., for two years.

Following graduation from the University of Pittsburgh in 1952, he received his commission as a second lieutenant and was transferred to Donaldson Air Force Base, S.C. # Bambacus Asks Commitment For Freeway Finish

Appearing before the Special Joint Committee on Transportation yesterday at Allegany Community College, Senator John N. Bambacus testified that the State of Maryland must "make a firm commitment now to the completion of the National Freeway.'

At a hearing on the National Freeway and the distribution of Maryland Transportation Trust Fund revenues, the Western Maryland Senator contended that "we have reached a critical juncture in the effort to complete Maryland's interstat? highway system."

"It's time we stopped passing the 'missing buck' to complete the 'missing link,' " Bambacus said. "The funding problem should not be as mysterious as it is made out to be. Furthermore, the current litigation is an excuse, not a reason, to delay the process."

Bambacus claimed that there was no reason not to proceed with the engineering studies and land acquisition phases of development.

"The State of Maryland must take the initiative and expedite this process which has been held up for so long," Bambacus concluded.

TAX LAW INCREASES DEPRECIATION

The latest tax law alation of investment new law (using the property in only 15 years. This can mean a depreciation) the first compared to the previous method of depreciating property for tax purposes over a 40 to 60 years.

On top of that, the property owner can elect to use a 175% debalance method (200% declining balance in the case of low-income property) which translates to huge tax savings in the early years of ownership. Or the owner can elect a straight line (equal yearly) depreciation over the same 15-year period.

Here's how the difference would look using as an example a new office building with a cost of 1 million dollars and a 40-year lows complete depreci- useful life. Under the 175% accelerated substantial tax saving year's depreciation would come to $116,667 compared to only $37,500 under the old law (150% declining life span ranging from was maximum). If you use straight line depreciation, your depreciation for each of the first 15 years is $66,667 under the new law compared to only $20,000 annually under the old.

Zelman Retains

Dr. Jared Zelman, Oakland, has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new put an appliance, such as a room air conditioner or dehumidifier, in good running order after an off-season storage period is a new filter or a quick cleaning. Refer to your appliance care manual for proper cleaning instructions. Refrigerators and freezers do run frequently with heavy summer usage. Hot, humid weather means many trips to the refrigerator-freezer for ice and beverages, with doors being opened and closed frequently. Plus, the refrigerator and freezer will probably be busy cooling and freezing all those good things from the garden.

And, refrigerators and freezers run more frequently when room temperature and humidity are high, they may also be getting a workout from vegetables steaming on the kitchen range in an open blancher or canner. Under such conditions, moisture may form on the outside walls of the refrigerator cabinet, even when the anti-sweat heaters are on.

Such cabinet moisture, along with frequent running, is just normal operation and is not a signal to call a service technician. These types of appliance service calls can be prevented by making a few simple checks which are described in a new Whirlpool AIS brochure designed for consumers. For a free copy of "Preventing Appliance Service Calls," write to: AIS, Department R, Whirlpool Corporation, Administrative Center, Benton Harbor, 49022.

This brochure includes lists of items to check for each major home appliance before calling for service. It could save you time, money and embarrassment of an unnecessary service

Byron To Lead Delegation To Meet Negotiators

Before leaving to meet with U.S. negotiators at arms control talks in Europe, Representative Beverly Byron (D-Md.) reaffirmed her commitment to serious arms negotiations and increased stability in the nuclear force structure of the United States and Soviet Union.

Congresswoman Byron, chairman of the House Armed Services Panel on Arms Control and Disarmament, expressed her concerns about the need for progress in arms control while maintaining an effective deterrent force. "Arms control cannot be isolated from an effective U.S. deterrent. Deterrence is not just bluff; it is a perceived capability, coupled with an understood commitment to use our retaliatory forces against key elements of Soviet power."

Representative Byron and other members of the panel will meet with the U.S. negotiators at the START and INF talks in Geneva, headed by Ambassadors Edward Rowney and Paul Nitze respectively. They will also meet with the U.S. delegation at the Mutual Balanced Force Reduction talks in Vienna, and the Institute of Strategic Studies in London, an organization that is internationally renowned for its expertise in world affairs. Congresswoman Byron added, "The panel will submit a report to the committee later this year as part of our role in monitoring the arms control process for the House. These meetings will allow us to assess first-hand the progress of the different sets of talks. We face a difficult task in attaining an arms control agreement, and I hope that I can contribute to that accomplishment."

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

Ridge Community Building. Dairy Animal" by Danny Roth. The dinner hour will be obdish luncheon. Each family is reminded to bring a small gift, homemade or otherwise, for a game of exchange. All friends and family are invited by the Strawsers to join them.

The Mt. Lions Club is planning to sponsor a glaucoma testing and audio screening on Sunday, July 17, in the afternoon at the Aurora School. A representative of the Pulmonary Care program will be present to explain its function and blood pressures will be read.

Arlene Roth of Horse Shoe Run attended Older Youth State 4-H Camp June 19-24 and while there was awarded her All-Star pin. She also taught an afternoon class in photography while attending the camp. One of several who attended from Preston County, the other person awarded the All-Star pin was Susie Huggins.

On July 25-26, Danny Roth and his mother, Elaine Roth, of Horse Shoe Run, attended the state Dairy Goat Show at Jack-

Mr. and Mrs. Robert the engagement and forthcoming wedding of their daughter, Kathy Lynn, to Larry Sigley. The couple will be married in an open church ceremony on July Lutheran Church, Red House. All are invited to attend.

A bridal shower was held on Saturday, June 18, at the Aurora Community Building to honor Kathy Strawser, brideelect of Larry Sigley. The affair was hosted by her mother, Lois Strawser, aunt Hazel Durst, cousin Lori Durst and sister, Marcia Rumer.

Guests attending were Lucy Wilt, Janette and Vicki Strawser, Marjorie Strawser, Bonnie and Melissa Harsh, Beulah Dunbar, Izetta Martin, Sandy Tichnell, Trish and Phillip Rumer, Joyce Dixon, Virginia Dixon, Wanda Hauser, Barbara Lee, Betty Stemple, Elaine Wotring and Nina Lay-

State Offers Low-Interest Mortgage Rates

Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD) Secretary James O. Roberson recently announced the Community Development Administration (CDA) is making available $5 million at an 11.2 percent interest rate to finance singlefamily homes for first-time homeowners.

Under the Mortgage Purchase Program, which is available statewide, CDA has targeted several counties and towns across the state for greater participation by increasing the limits of the acquisition prices for homes. Those targeted areas include: Allegany, Caroline, Dorchester, Garrett, Kent and Somerset counties, and the towns of Hagerstown in Washington County, Oella, West Towson and Catonsville in Baltimore County, and sections of Wicomico County.

Income limits for the program are $33,000 for a twoperson household and $28,000 for a single-person household, The acquisition price of homes is limited to $60,000 in nontargeted areas, and $66,000 in targeted areas.

District No. 9, all of the minerals underlying 50 acres, more or less, assessed to the Sara Wright Estate in Election District No. 9, and being the minerals under Military Lot No. 792, which was excepted by Sara Wright in a deed to Andrew J. Willison dated November 25, 1890, and recorded in Liber No. 36, Folio 88, one of the Land Records of Garrett County Maryland The bill states, among other things, that the amounts neces sary for redemption have not been paid, although more than a year and a day from the date of sale has expired. It is thereupon this 23rd day of June. 1983, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED, that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this ORDER in some news paper having a general circu-lation in Garrett County once a week for three successive weeks, warning all persons nterested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by this 23rd day of August, 1983. and redeem the property herein described and answer the bill or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights or redemption in the property. and vesting in the plaintiff a title, free and clear of all encumbrances Clifford C. DeWitt

Hundreds Attend Mt. Lake Park Davs Programs

Several hundred persons participated in one or more of the events of the first Mountain Lake Park Days observance, held Monday and Tuesday in

Over 300 persons attended the opening program on Monday evening at the camp meeting auditorium to hear a welcome from town council member Margo Vandiver, representing Mayor Russell Alexander, followed by talks and slide presentations by Dr. Kathy Peiss, of the University of Maryland, Baltimore County; Alfreda Irwin, of the Chautauqua Institute, New York; and Mary I. Love, Mt. Lake Park Days coordinator. Judge Fred A. Thayer, a member of the Mt. Lake Park ad hoc committee, served as master of ceremonies

Dr. Peiss discussed the changing patterns of recreation and related philosophies during the late 1800s and early 1900s which corresponded with the rapid, vibrant growth of Mt. Lake Park as a resort area, and its Chautauqua program which attracted thousands of summer visitors every year during that

Dr. Love explained what life was like in Mt. Lake Park at the height of its popularity and success by using the story of an imaginary family that discovered the Park in 1911. Slides of old photographs of various buildings and locations in the Park accompanied her presen-

The program was followed by a soiree (reception) in the Assembly Hall which featured refreshments common to the old boarding houses and hotels of Mt. Lake Park. There was also a display of old photos, publications and other exhibits.

On Tuesday approximately 500 persons participated in open houses at 11 Victorian homes in the Park. One residence alone registered 466 guests. The two-day observance concluded Tuesday evening at the auditorium with further talks by Dr. Peiss, Ms. Irwin, Dr. Love, and Donna Ware, an historian from Washington, D.C., who was formerly with the Maryland Historical Trust. Approximately 200 were in attendance. The decline of Mt. Lake Park as a prosperous resort, a view of present day Chautauqua programs, a look at possibilities for the future and the announcement that a segment of Mt. Lake Park will most likely be listed with the National Register of Historic Places within the next few months were the major segments of the closing program. Judge Thayer also announced that the committee has decided that plans for an annual program for the Park will be

Arbitrator Finds Ms. Irwin spoke about the Classes Too Large State Declines, At Broad Ford

The arbitrator in the case bedown earlier this month.

Millard Cass, Bethesda attorney and an arbitrator for the American Association of Arbitrators, stated in his decision that class size is an integral part of education and obligates the board of education to take whatever action necessary to relieve the burden of classes which are too large. His decision places the burden on the board to show that it has exhausted all avenues of relief and ordered the board to comply with the contract for its remaining two years. The suit had been filed for arbitration by the county teachers association on behalf of two kindergarten teachers at Broad Ford Elementary School, Carole Glotfelty and Barbara Sweitzer. The arbitrator found that in 1982-83 these teachers had had classes with five to six children above the normal size of 28-29 at Broad Ford. Cass agreed with a ruling by Judge Fred A. Thayer of Garrett County Circuit Court that a class size of 32 derogates the educational opportunities of children. He also agreed that such a class size frustrates the individual teacher in his or her ability to perform in a professional manner.

He apparently based his 17-page decision on Judge Thayer's decision that the matter of class size is arbitrable, and his own judge-Continued on Page 16

NEW BOOKMOBILE MAKING THE ROUNDS - The Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County put into service a new bubble-top Chevy van last week, 23 years after the former one had been purchased. Some $6,000 is still needed by the library to completely pay for the vehicle which cost the library $25,700. Donations so far have amounted to approximately $10,000, and are welcome at the main library on Second Street in Oakland or may be mailed to the library, 6 North Second Street. The new vehicle, although smaller than the previous one, has a special feature—a musical horn which will play tunes to alert patrons when the vehicle nears a stop. Above, driver Karen Fauber has parked the bookmobile at the Bradley Manor Apartments for a stop, one of the 50 on the summer schedule in effect July 11 through August 29.

State, County Jobless Figures Fall Significantly

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate took another dip to 6.6 percent in May, down from the 7.2 percent registered in April, as the state's labor market continued to show strong signs of recovery from the recession. Garrett County's jobless rate also dropped substantially, from 18.5 percent in April to 14.1 percent in May.

According to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Human Resources, Employment Security Administration. May marked the fourth consecutive month of falling unemployment. Since the 9.0 percent recorded in January 1983, the state rate has decreased by 2.4 percentage points. May also marked the fifth consecutive month the unemployment rate has been lower than the rate recorded for the corresponding month of a year ago. The rate in May 1983 was 1.4 percentage points lower than that recorded in May 1982. In addition, May marked the 16th consecutive month in which Maryland's unemployment rate was less than the national rate. This gap has been widening monthly as the nation as a whole has been slower in

Two Abandoned Mines In Region The Garrett County fair To Be Reclaimed

Baltimore (UPI)-Two abandoned coal mines in Western Maryland will undergo repairs aimed at reducing safety hazards there, federal officials

The U.S. Department of the Interior's surface mining office said last week the state of Maryland will receive a $154,250 federal grant to reclaim two abandoned coal mine sites in Allegany and Garrett counties. The projects included Franklin Portal near Franklin in Allegany County and Trap Run Road near Friendsville in Garrett County.

The Trap Run Road mine is adjacent to a surface mine that is considered hazardous because of exposed highwalls and waterfilled pits. The highwalls will be returned to approximate original contour, and the entire area will be backfilled, regraded and revegetated, Harris

Money for restoring the mine lands comes from the federal Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund which is supported by taxes paid by coal operators.

Harris said each state received at least half the money its coal operators pay in taxes, and Maryland remains eligible to receive another $1.6 million for mine reclamation.

The Maryland Bureau of Mines will administer the reclamation projects at the two sites. The Bureau had included the two sites in an application made last fall which involved reclamation of three abandoned mine sites in the two counties.

The third site, along Amish Road, has already been approved for reclamation through

Public Hearing On Road Closing Set For Tuesday

A public hearing on the proposed closing of a section of the Accident/Friendsville Road will be held in the meeting room of the Garrett County Commissioners on July 19 at 9 a.m.

The section of road involved starts at the intersection of Jim Rush Road and runs northwest approximately 1.2 miles and includes the Bear Creek Bridge at the bottom of the Limestone The bridge has recently been the subject of some controversy when the commissioners ordered the bridge to be barricaded to prevent traffic across Their action was taken because the bridge had been given

Three Injured In On Deep Creek

Three separate, and rather unusual, accidents on Deep Creek Lake this past week sent three persons to area hospitals with various injuries. Two of the persons were run over by motor boats and a third lost portions of two fingers while being towed by a boat and riding on an intertube.

Kathleen Margaret Dodson, 34, of Bridgeport, W.Va., was seriously injured Friday at about noon when she fell from the boat which she was operating in the Hooppole area of the lake off Boy Scout Road and

According to Department of Natural Resources Police Officer Richard Towers, Mrs. Dodson had taken the boat to check on her children who were canoeing nearby. When she was returning to the dock, she stated that a towel started to blow out of the boat. She reached for it, and as she did, a wave hit the bottom of the boat, flipping her out of the 15-foot Pisces out-

The boat then began to circle around and on one pass ran over Mrs. Dodson, severely lacerating her right forearm and face and shattering her jaw bone. She also sustained lacerations on her chest and upper right

According to Towers, her husband, Phillip M. Dodson, witnessed the mishap, jumped in the boat and turned off the motor, and then assisted his wife to shore. The accident occurred about 40 feet off shore.

Mrs. Dodson was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad and later transferred by the squad to the West Virginia University Medical Center in Morgantown, where she was listed in "satisfactory" condition this morning.

Towers said that the Dodson family was staying with Mrs. Dodson's parents, who are from South Carolina and own a home

Southern Rescue also trans-Pittsburgh, Pa., to Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Sunday afternoon after he lost the ends of two fingers.

Johnson was reportedly riding an intertube that was being towed by a boat when his hand became entangled in the rope He was treated and released at the hospital.

A third incident at 7:45 p.m. Monday, resulted in injuries to Mary Ann Hardesty, 36, of Morgantown, W.Va., who was reportedly run over by a boat while she was water skiing in the Red Run area of the Lake. Ms. Hardesty reportedly suf-

Commissioners, Study Committees Unusual Accidents And DNR Tour Youghiogheny Today

The Garrett County Commissioners met this morning with members of the Senate Economic Affairs Committee and House Environmental Matters Committee for a briefing on the Youghiogheny River

According to Commissioner Elwood Groves, the local officials would meet with approximately 50 members of the summer study tour and Department of Natural Resources personnel at 9:30, prior to a bus tour which will follow the river as much as possible from Oakland to Friendsville. The summer study committees were here after a bill introduced by Sen. John Bambacus and Del. George Edwards received neither a favorable nor unfavorable report in either section of the legislature. The bill would have made the river a state "scenic" river and returned regulatory control to the county. The measure would also require that regulations be prepared and accepted within one year after the bill took effect, with present regulations remaining in effect until that Commissioner Groves pointed out that his board has worked consistently with Bambacus and Edwards and citizens in the corridor to demolish the impasse on the river issue.

The group was to meet at the Grantsville Holiday Inn, where all those on the tour were staying, and were to be welcomed by the commissioners. The summer study committees had previously decided that it would not be pertinent to hold a public hearing to gain additional testimony on landowners' desires to have control revert to county officials, and had opted for the bus tour.

That tour would take the group from Oakland down the Oakland-Sang Run Road through that tiny community and downriver to Friendsville.

Commissioner Groves was going to take today's opportunity to point out the difficulty ported Richard Johnson, 29, of implementing current DNR lack of cooperation among the present advisory board members, and the adamant resistance of the property owners to the regulations. He said he would seek the committees' support in softening the regulations and would also suggest that the present makeup of the advisory board is too unwieldy. That suggestion was first made by Col. Richard C. Browning,

man of the advisory group. At this point, Commissioner chairman Ernie Gregg said that DNR Secretary Dr. Torrey Brown was aware of the problems inherent in the advisory board and has taken the matter under advisement.

Commissioner Groves said that in conclusion on Wednesday, he would point out that on behalf of the property owners, the board feels an injustice has been done and that the commissioners would like to see the law amended. He feels the amended law can preserve the wildness of the river in a more acceptable fashion, with "DNR not riding roughshod over any-

Two Zoning Hearings Set In Park July 21

Two public hearings are planned in Mt. Lake Park Thursday, July 21, on zoning ordinances. The first hearing will be at 6 p.m. before the Mt. Lake Park Board of Zoning Appeals to review an application to replace a mobile home at the corner of Pittsburgh Avenue and Deer Park Avenue.

That is the location of the prospective property of Thomas K. Vance. A special exception permit will be needed before the replacement can take place.

The second meeting, before the mayor and town council, will begin at 7 p.m. on a petition submitted by Tom Ritchey to amend the zoning ordinance.

The mayor and council will decide whether to amend the present ordinance to allow inclusion of a gas station in a town residential zone by special exception, as well as in the commercial zone. The gas station would be excluded from suburban residential areas.

Teachers Say

Renegotiation Out

The Garrett County teachers are apparently standing firmly behind their decision not to renegotiate their salary pact with the Garrett board of education, following a meeting with board bargaining rep James Lupis Monday.

Lupis explained to the five members of the teachers' bargaining group that since the commissioners had called for a half-million dollar reduction in funding, the board feels it cannot fully meet the contract negotiated with the teachers last fall.

The teachers, however, remain firm in their stance that the commissioners had acted to fund their agreement and that the board is now obligated to the Lupis plans to take the teachers' decision before the Board of Education Thursday.

Representing the teachers Monday were Betty White, incoming president of the Garrett County Teachers Association; Cheryl Henderson, secretary; Terry Wolfe, Jim Railey, and Tom Shaffer, Maryland State Teachers association representatives.

Garrett County School Bus Driver

Found Not Guilty On Battery Charge

driver was found not guilty on a costs. charge of assault and battery filed against her by the parent of a five-year old Oakland child in Monday's session of Garrett County District Court.

Patricia Welch, Oakland, was following testimony from the nine-year-old brother of the alleged victim, and a sevenyear-old companion. Other witnesses included the child's supervisors.

Gloria Burns, Oakland, who filed the charge against Mrs. Welch, told Judge Jack Turney and a court room full of spectators that her child and his brother reported the assault to her, which allegedly occurred in March of this year

According to the youthful witnesses, an altercation arose between two children in the rear of the bus while it was moving in the parking area of the Broad Ford Flementary School. The altercation resulting in an eyepoking incident, according to the children, and as the bus was unloading, Mrs. Welch stopped the two who were involved to inguire as to what had occurred. According to the brother of the alleged victim, Mrs. Welch took the arm of the five-year-old and vigorously shook it. The child's mother said she found two small bruises on the boy's arm that evening, but no medical testimony was introduced to substantiate the claim.

Welch, represented by Oakland attorney Ralph Burnett, denied the charge, stating she holds the responsibility of the children while they ride on her bus, and must maintain order among the students for their own safety. She spoke of the rules and regulations which are explained to the students at the beginning of each new year, and told of her ten years of driving experience without one parental complaint lodged against her through the school board or a court of law.

In other court action, Royce Riley was found guility of issuing a bad check in the amount of $40.12 to Ralph's Richfood which was written on a closed account. Riley was placed on probation before judgment because of no prior record, and ordered to make restitution, which he had already done. He was also fined

Judge Thaver Notes Up Final Work

Numerous Cases Garrett County Circuit Court

Judge Fred A. Thayer heard a number of cases this week including several criminal appeals, and a case of welfare

Carolyn Shifflett Simmons, 35, Mt. Lake Park, pled guilty to collecting $1,413 in welfare benefits when she claimed her son was living in her household. It was discovered that the child was actually living in the home of his grandmother during the suspected period, which ran from April of 1980 through September of 1982.

Paugh was found guilty in Garrett County District Court higher court.

State's attorney James Sherbin presented the facts in the case, telling of the March 13 incident involving a parked vehicle belonging to Edward Steyer, also of Deer Park.

According to the records, the Steyer family was awakened at approximately 2 a.m. by a telephone call from a neighbor who reported a vehicle in the front yard of the Steyer home. Upon investigation by Garrett County Sheriff's Deputy Don Tucker, the Paugh auto was found in the MD 21550 (301) 334-2617, driveway of the Steyer residence where it had left the roadway, traveled through the yard,

Judge Levies $1,000 Fine For Drunken Driving

Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney fined a Kitzmiller man $1,000 plus court costs on a drunken driving charge last week.

Richard Alvin Burgess, 27, was found guilty of driving while intoxicated, and three other traffic offenses, which drew fines of $175, as well. He was also sentenced to six months in the county jail. Judge Turney suspended five of those months, arranged a work release program for the sixth month, and placed Burgess on two years supervised probation with alcoholic counseling.

In another driving while intoxicated case, Thomas Floyd Arrich, 26, Confluence, Pa., was fined $150, and ordered to attend DWI training school. He was placed on six months probation, and ordered to pay

Deputy Investigating July 4 Sexual Assault Incident

A 21-year-old Oakland man is being questioned by the county sheriff's department in connection with an alleged sexual assault which occurred the evening of July 4 at Broadford

According to Chief Deputy Van Evans, who is conducting the investigation, charges are being brought by a 17-year-old Oakland area girl alleging that the young man forced her to perform an unnatural sex act.

Concert Reminder County Landfill The Deep Creek Lake - Gar- Hours Reduced

The Garrett County landfill on the Oakland-Sang Run Road will no longer be open round the sponsor country music shows clock, the Garrett County Comby Sonny James in two live con- missioners announced Tuesday.

In order to comply with state law which requires a landfill to be manned at all times when open, the commissioners said the landfill will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily rather than 24 hours, seven days a week

They explained they chose to reduce the hours of the landfill rather than increasing county costs by hiring more personnel to man the site, which has until now been unmanned through nighttime hours.

The state health department recently notified the county of its intentions to enforce the state law which was established to prevent unmonitored dumping a hazardous waste.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg noted that a container or a truck will be posted outside the gate at the landfill for persons who cannot visit the site during operating hours to dump their

"Close Ties" To Be Presented This

Week At Blue Barn Cleona Reed plays Josephine Whitaker, the central character in the new drama "Close Ties," playing this week. Thursday through Sunday, at the Blue Barn Theatre on Beckman's Peninsula at Deep Creek Lake. Josephine, a strong-willed grandmother in a dynamic family, struggles to maintain close ties to her family, ties to the past and to memories, and to keep her grasp on present reality. The play, which originally was performed at the Long Wharf Theatre to critical acclaim, has been compared to "On Golden Pond" because of the compassion and humor with which it treats the dilemma of older and younger generations relating to each other.

Cleona Reed has acted professionally in summer stock theatres in Rockport, Massachusetts, and Ogunquit. Maine, and at the Pittsburga Playhouse

In Hollywood, she studied with Mrne. Maria Ouspenskaya of the Moscow Art Theatre, and at Carnegie Tech, she worked with Edith Skinner, the principal voice consultant at San Francisco's American Conservatory and the Circle-In-The-Square in New York. Mrs. Reed has also studied in the acting programs at New York University, Northwestern University, and Long Beach, California Mrs. Reed has taught drama in high schools in California, in Pennsylvania, and at Allegany High School in Cumberland, She has come out of retirement to join the Blue Barn Theatre, and after "Close Ties" she will appear in "The Guardsman", August 18 to 21.

Performances of "Close members of the company. Ties" are on Thursday and Friday at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 6:00 and 9:30 p.m., and Sunday at 4:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the box office, 387-5510, in Frostburg at 689-8035, at the Allegany Arts Council in Cumberland, and in Oakland at July 14. #### Pride At Work . . .

Community pride is alive and well in Garrett County.

We believe that the above statement has always been true on the mountaintop, but several recent activities by a variety of organizations and individuals have proven the point.

The response and enthusiasm displayed this week during the first Mt. Lake Park Days was literally overwhelming, even by the most optimistic projections. It was hoped that scores of persons would attend the programs and open houses, but in fact, hundreds of persons participated. The two-day event closed last night with excitement in the air and great anticipation as to what may come about as a result of the observance. It was evident that many persons, of all ages, are not only desirous of knowing about the colorful history of Mt. Lake Park, but are also anxious to begin to work together in an attempt to revive some of the wholesome recreation. education and culture of the Chautauqua Era.

In the small, but active, towns of Friendsville, Accident, Grantsville and McHenry we have seen over the past several weeks an aggressive, successful fund drive to assist the all-volunteer Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Over ten thousand dollars have been raised or pledged to date.

The response to the fund drive to pay for a new bookmobile for the county has also been excellent.

The service clubs in all areas of the county continue to work to raise money and donate it to chanty and emergency organizations.

Not unlike people everywhere, Garrett Countians have their major disagreements with each other on everything from politics to religion to brands of peanut butter. But it gives one a warm feeling to know that the majority agree on those aspects of life which are worthwhile and valuable. Through such agreement, enthusiasm, cooperation and hard work, these aspects are created, re-born, supported and expanded.

My oldest son's room is done in early shipwreck, and will surely transport our visitors to Davy Jones' locker, if they're up on their world history. It started out with fish nets, sea shells pictures of grand sailing schooners, and has now taken a turn for the worse, complete with terminal gym socks and glasses from ten cases of Coke ago.

Perhaps the tour would rather move to the house next door. #### Ready To Select Airport Operator

The Garrett County Commissioners heard the last two of three proposals Tuesday for operation of the county airport and stated at an afternoon press conference they expect to be close to a decision at the end of this week.

The commissioners stated they have been little satisfied with the current operator of the airport, whose two-year contract expires at the end of this month, but added that those problems are now history.

What the commissioners hope to see happen at the airport under the new operator is the building of a reputation for dependable service to customers.

They hope several services will be offered at the airport which have been offered sporadically in the past. Those services include flying instructions, air tours of the county and hangar space for airplanes

Whatever theory of creation you are a proponent of, whether Divine Being, natural evolution, or the "Big Bang" theory, there is one element of our flora and fauna which I consider unnecessary: insects.

Insects, or "bugs" if you are on an intimate basis, are at the top of my list of loathesome creatures. Otherwise, I happen to be a big fan of nature. I've never held a grudge against a tree, I rather enjoy deer and bunnies, I literally applaude the Creator over birdlife and some of my best friends have been dogs . . . but when it comes to bugs, I draw the line.

For the past several years I have conducted an all out war against insects and have fought a fair, if losing, battle.

I am by nature a fastidiously clean person, which is not to be confused with a neat person. I am not a neat person. I have fascinating piles of junk strewn about my house, but it is clean The type of junk one can be proud of. Therefore, I wouldn't think I'd be the sort to provide a habitat for bugs and others have agreed with me, with the exception of the bugs. I am the Holiday Inn of the insect world.

I have sprayed and swatted, stomped and slapped my way through insects from coast to coast. I have the misfortune to be highly allergic to insect bites.d A mosquito bite can transform me into Quasimodo.

It's very unfair, considering the insects outnumber us by the millions. I could probably tell you by how many millions except that my almanac was devoured by book worms

Currently, I am battling ants. I was preparing dinner for friends the other evening when I observed a parade of ants in my kitchen. At the sight of the intruders, something within me snapped and I began jumping around, waving and stomping and gurgling with rage. Someone thought I was choking and applied the Heimlich Manuever.

I've studied about insects, believing that an informed enemy would be a more formidable enemy. I even consented to an entymology course and could bore you to tears with my bug lore. My professor required us to compile a bug collection and she objected when I submitted my bathroom.

My kitchen sink cabinet has become a depository for the weapons of chemical warfare. I have sprays for flying insects, mosquito repellents, sprays for crawling insects, roach motels with pool and patio, and traps, dusting powder for my plants, and none of them have totally eliminated my unwelcome guests.

Finally, after years of pondering it dawned on me that there is a common denominator of all insect life. With exception of butterflies, which I don't object to, insects are terribly ugly. Only they don't known they are ugly. That is until now. I no longer reach for the fly swatter when I spot an intruder. I now walk up to the pitiful creature and place a small hand mirror in front of it. Yesterday I showed an ant its reflection and it audibly shrieked and ran out of the house. I like to think I'm making this world a better place to live.

Kristi Bowling

Among Top Ten In Teen Pageant

Kristi Bowling, daughter of Ms. Nancy A. Spiker, Frederick, and James C. Bowling, Cumberland, placed in the top ten finalists of the Miss Maryland National Teenager Pageant, held July 1-3 at Hunt Valley Inn near Baltimore. The 55 contestants, ages 13-18, were judged on poise and appearance in evening wear, talent, volunteer community service, interview, application and content and delivery of a 100-word essay on the theme "What's Right About America."

Bonnie Lorber, 18, of Bel Air, who has been in the pageant in the past, was the winner of the Miss Maryland National Teenager title.

Miss Bowling will be a senior this fall at Southern High School. She is captain of the Southern Belles Colorguard, the Southern Garrett Concert and Stage Bands, the National Honor Society and the Girls' Athletic Association. She is also listed in "Who's Who in American High School Students" and 'Who's Who in Music." She resided in Oakland with her grandmother, Flora Burton.

Kristi, who was competing in the event for the first time, stated, "I feel that the pageant was one of the most memorable and worthwhile experiences I have ever had, and I am considering participating again next year if I am eligible. I met many exciting people with whom I intend to keep in touch."

She also expressed her thanks to her many sponsors, especially the Garrett County Business and Professional Women and Jackson Electric, as well as members of her family and her friends for their support.

Oakland Slates Budget Hearing

The mayor and council of Oakland will conduct a budget meeting on Monday, July 18, at p.m. at city hall, according to decision reached at their July

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

July is the month for fireworks, picnics and outdoor celebrations. July is also the perfect salad weather. What is more refreshing than a fresh, crisp ice cold salad on a day when the thermometer reads 90 degrees? Home grown vegetables make salads even more appealing! For an extra special salad try this: Layered Vegetable Vinagretti

Dressing: 1/2 cup vinegar

1/2 cup oil 1/2 cup Dijon mustard freshly ground black pepper

Salad 4 medium carrots 1 pound green beans

2 tomatoes 2 cucumbers 4 pound mushrooms

Mix dressing in a jar, shake well. Scrub or peel carrots and slice into rounds. Steam green beans for 5 minutes, drain. Slice tomatoes, cucumbers and mushrooms into thin slices.

Layer vegetables in a serving dish and top with dressing. Refrigerate one hour or more before serving.

Yield: 8 servings Approx. cal/serv.: 170

The Nutrition Education Committee of the American Heart Association is dedicated to bringing you healthy, nutritious, fun recipes for the year. This month the theme is Independence. Last week Independence was looked at from the stand point of being an American. This week let's look at independence from a closer point of view-independence from the kitchen. We have become a society of increased mobility. Women are no longer expected to spend the day in the kitchen. A little over half of the women of working age are employed outside the home. After a hard day at work no one wants to come home and sweat for hours over a hot stove. Does this mean that we turn to high fat, high calorie fast foods or convenience foods? No! Healthy eating need not take hours to prepare. It may mean a change in thinking about nutrition, but the answer is to eat well, but wisely. This column with its weekly tips will help you to prepare quick, delicious foods to please the whole family and keep your heart healthy.

The recipes and some of the tips used in this column are from the American Heart Association's Cookbook. For more information on how to obtain a cookbook call Wendy Wakefield RD. 334-2155 Ext. 227.

Lake Zoning Board

Three applications before the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals were approved at its July 7 meeting, one was denied, one was postponed until ended in a compromise. Railey, Inc. was granted approval of their proposal to construct eight townhouse units on their property by Deep Creek Bridge along Route 219. No one appeared to speak in opposition to the proposal, which was presented by James Railey, Jr.

The application by Theodore from lot size and width requirements for single family residences was denied. The board felt that since the lot size was smaller than standard, permission to use the 100 by 194 foot lot should be denied. The zoning board had received several letters in opposition to this application to build a residence. The property is on Lake Shore

Ladies Golf News

The Oakland Country Club Ladies' Golf Association met Thursday for its monthly breakfast meeting with June Bray, president, presiding. Among the items of business discussed were plans for a gathering of all club members for a Sadie Hawkins Day on Sunday, July 17. Also discussed was the Ladies' Invitational, slated for August 2. Madeline Thayer, chairman, announced the committees for the event. Play of the day was Odd-Even Holes, Low Net Front Nine and Low Gross Back Nine. The Odd event ended in a tie between Mary Peterson and Peggy Kitzmiller, who each carded a 41. Winning the Even title was Mrs.

Peterson with a 47. Low net on the front nine was also recorded by Mrs. Peterson with a 34, while low gross back nine was won by Mrs. Kitzmiller with a 42.

Former Southern Baseball Players Sign At Garrett

Phil Caruso, baseball coach at Garrett Community College, has announced the recent letter of intent signings of two former Southern High School School baseball players, Mark Rodeheaver, a 1983 graduate and Wayne Scott, class of 1981.

Rodeheaver, a pitcher, completed his senior year at Southern with a 3-2 record and an ERA of 2.66. He was the recipient of the Best Pitcher Award for the second consecutive year. During his years at Southern, he compiled an 8-6 record with a career 2.99 ERA, leading the team in ERA from 1981 to 1983.

'Mark is a finesse type pitcher who has the best mechanics of any high school pitcher I have seen in this area. He keeps hitters off-balance with his curve and good control. I believe he will have a good collegiate career because there are so many hitters in college ball who can hit the fast ball pitchers, but have trouble with pitchers like Mark," Coach Caruso said.

Rodeheaver is the son of Lonnie and Louise Rodeheaver of Deer Park and will be majoring in history at Garrett.

In addition to high school baseball, Rodeheaver has pitched two years of PenMar League ball and was a Little League and Pony League All-

Wayne Scott lettered in baseball four straight years at Southern. He will enter the Laker program as a catcher/outfielder.

At Southern, he led the team in stolen bases with 23, setting a school single season record, which will fit in well with the running style of the Lakers. "Wayne is a hard worker, and although he has been out of baseball for two years, he will be challenging for a position either as a catcher or in the outfield," Caruso said.

Scott is currently playing PenMar baseball for Oakland and was a Little League and Pony League All-Star. While at Southern he also lettered four years in football, was named to the All-HFC team for two years and played in the East/West Shrine Classic.

Scott is a son of Don and Susan Scott of Oakland and will be majoring in building construction at Garrett.

Parsons Bowls 300

Don Parsons, Deer Park, bowled a perfect 300 game June 2 at the North Garrett Lanes east of Grantsville.

Earlier this year, Parsons, who now operates a bowling shop in the basement of his home on the old hotel grounds near Deer Park, bowled a 299 game at Par-Matt Lanes when he had 11 strikes in a row.

Garrett Baseball Camp Scheduled For July 18-20

Garrett Community College head baseball coach, Phil Caruso, will be conducting the third annual GCC Laker Baseball Instructional Camp Monday, July 18, through Wednesday, July 20. It will be held at Garrett Community College, McHenry, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day. The camp is open to all boys and girls between the ages of 8-15.

'The purpose of the camp is to provide valuable learning tips that will enable younger players to develop new skills and to allow experienced players to polish their talents," Caruso said.

Skill development will be taught in the area of batting, bunting, base running, fielding, throwing, pitching, catching, infield and outfield. Instruction will be provided to the campers in both individual and group settings and will emphasize the fundamentals, according to Special features of the camp will include the use of the Curve Master Pitching Machine, controlled scrimmage games, lectures and special contests with trophies awarded.

A new feature will be player evaluation report cards. Each camper will be evaluated throughout the three days on the fundamentals: hitting, fielding, running, pitching, etc. On the final day of the camp, each player will receive a report card noting his or her strengths and areas to be improved. Comments and suggestions will be provided to each camper based on his individual abilities as to how each camper may improve

Dog Ordinance Will Be Enforced In County's Towns

The Garrett County dog ordinance, to become effective August 1, does have jursidiction over residents in municipalities in the county, the county commissioners announced Tuesday

The ordinance, adopted June 28. previously was thought to cover only unincorporated regions in the county, but the commissioners have since learned differently from their county attorney who researched the matter.

Commissioner Elwood Groves said he believed the discovery to be a "positive step to find the law is viable and can be enforced in municipalities." He noted that most complaints about stray or nuisance dogs tend to be within municipalities.

The ordinance supersedes ordinance in a municipality, the commissioner the regulations in the dog ordinance will appear in The Republican in the next few weeks.

a Bible School for two weeks at Whitehall, N.Y. Sam Ruggiero will be received as a member of Cherry

Glade Mennonite Church at the services next Sunday morning. LCW Meets Emmanuel's Lutheran regular monthly meeting on Church women held their Friday evening at the church. Preceding the meeting, Miss Betty Buckel had a planning discussion with the members of the Outreach and Fellowship Committee, of which she is chairman. The group decided to hold a salad supper before the September meeting, and special invitations will be extended to prospective members. Each member is to try to bring a guest. Jennie Hady will do some articles for the newsletter, telling details of LCW programs, goals and projects. No meetings will be held in August. Mrs. Beulah Moon, president, had charge of the business meeting. It was reported that the offerings from Bible School will be given to purchase Kiddie Kits. Vicki Plesak designed a banner to be taken to the LCW Convention and Jennie Hady assembled it.

The topic "Creativity" was presented by Linda Buckel and Lottie Brenneman. Each member brought along an article made and created by themselves. The program urged creative endeavors by everyone, and pointed out that each one has some abilities that need to be constantly fostered and developed. There were 15 members present.

Counseling Service Plans Local Office

The Christian Counseling Service has opened an office in Cumberland for individual and group counseling, utilizing five qualified counselors and volunteers. The service proposes to open branch offices in Oakland, Frostburg, Hancock, Keyser, W. Va., and Somerset and Bedford in Pennsylvania.

The available services include group, family, and premarital counseling, spousal abuses, parenting skills, alcohol and drug abuse, stress management, bereavement, overeating, and other compulsive behaviors. Seminars also will be available for a wide range of topics and problems.

The Christian Counseling Service is financed by small fees and donations and is seeking support from community church organizations and individuals. A fee grant fund has been established to assist persons with financial difficulties.

Donations sought for this fund will be used only for paying the fees of needy individuals.

A request is also being made for the donation of house furniture, office equipment, and other supplies for the Cumber-

DELICATE PORTRAYALS of scenic beauty are the trademark of 20-year-old Oren Orendorf, of Amish Road, who is exhibiting his watercolor work at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. Orendort also is displaying pen and pencil drawings. A 1981 graduate of Northern High School, Orendorf has completed two years of art classes at Garrett Community College and plans to attend the Art Institute of Pittsburgh so he can further pursue a career in commissioned art. Wildlife and landscapes are his favorite forms of expression and he says he would like to specialize in these areas, which have been his main focus so far. His work will be on exhibit in Oakland until mid-July.

Union Workers Go On Strike At Craig Stores

Union employees of Craig Motor Service Co., Inc., stores throughout the tri-state region walked out on strike Tuesday, July 5, after contract negotiations between union representatives and new owners of the chain were stalemated.

The strike affected four of the eight employees at the Oakland store who are the only employees on wage there and who belong to Automotive Parts and Service Workers

Officials for the company which purchased the Craig chain which includes about 11 stores, this spring refused comment on the strike, but the local strikers have been passing out information and willingly tell their side.

The employees' contract expired June 30, but they continued work for two days until they were notified that the company officials were not willing to negotiate any of their demands.

county does not maintain the section proposed for closing in the wintertime, a section of road described as a dirt road. traversing a steep hill with unprotected cliffs. Yet, Meyers say many people use the road as a shortcut between Accident and Friendsville. Meyers, who have lived in their home for 20 years, said if the bridge is left as is, her family will not be able to bring in fire or rescue trucks or have fuel oil delivered.

The Meyerses have contacted the offices of Beverly Byron, state Representative George Edwards and state Senator John Bambacus in an effort to prevent the closing of the bridge.

The commissioners, who say they recognize the problems the Mevers have, still cannot justify leaving the road and bridge in the county system.

They add that they had no choice in barricading the bridge because of the legal liability.

They also note that the costs of repairing the bridge to bring it up to a safe standard and to rebuild the section of road are prohibitive. When asked what was wrong with the bridge, Commissioner Ernie Gregg said, "Everything.

One point they raised is just what will happen when the county closes the road, or removes it from the county system. They explained that once taken from the county system the bridge could be opened to allow traffic to cross it, but there would then be no liability against the county. ## Funds Allocated To Aid Jobless

Ruth Massinga, Maryland Secretary of Human Resources, has announced the plans for the utilization of more than $2.4 million to local governments and agencies throughout the State to provide jobs and services to the unemployed.

According to Massinga, these funds are a part of the $6.6 million available to the Department of Human Resources under the Emergency Jobs Act (Public Law 98-8) passed by the Congress in March.

Specificially, $714,000 will be distributed between all jurisdictions of the State for emergency food and shelter. Garrett County will receive $16,032 of that total.

Massinga has asked all local governing authorities to advise how they choose to administer these funds within their jurisdictions. The allocations formula has been based on unemployment rates, number of persons unemployed and poverty levels in each jurisdiction.

Further, $1,127,000 will be added to existing low-income energy conservation and weatherization programs which provide this service to eligible dwelling units occupied by lowincome homeowners, renters, speaker at a missions rally on elderly or handicapped persons. within the State. Garrett Community Action Committee will receive $17,297. Secretary Massinga has requested these agencies to submit plans detailing how these additional funds will be utilized.

Each Community Action Agency will receive at least $10,000 with the remainer allocated equitably based on the unemployment rate and numbers of persons unemployed in each geographic area.

The Summer Youth Jobs program in Southern Maryland and on the Eastern Shore will receive another $269,000. This additional money will permit an increase of approximately 150 job or educational slots for economically disadvantaged youth, ages 16 to 21, this

While we are pleased with these additional funds,"

Massinga said, "we must point out, as we have since the appropriation was made, that this additional one-time-only money is not a cure-all for either the unemployment problem or the serious social needs which these programs address.

"Obviously, jobs and services for the poor and unemployed should be available through adequately funded programs, not these periodic band-aids.

"Given the continuing serious nature of these problems, funding is badly needed on an ongoing, rather than one-timeonly, basis.

"While we are pleased that the Congress has provided this minimal program, over the objection of the Reagan Administration, it is not an efficient or effective means to deal with the serious problems so many of our citizens continue to face," she said.

The Secretary added than plans for the use of an additional $4.2 million for dislocated workers and social services will

Assessment Answers & Tax Talk

ON ELIGIBILITY FOR HOMEOWNERS TAX CREDITS

by James Burley

Based on the nature of the inquiries being received, there is lingering and fairly widespread misconception on concerning who might be eligible for tax relief under the Homeowners Property Tax Credit Program. Many property owners still believe erroneously that it is a program for the elderly only. For this reason they are not filing and some are missing out on a credit against their property tax they otherwise would have received. been in existence since 1975. It replaced, for all practical purposes, the separate "circuit breaker" programs that were. until that time, in all of the counties and the city. These the elderly and the disabled. Even the state program in the beginning was limited to those who were sixty years of age or older, or who were totally disabled; but the age and dis-

ped in 1978. Since this time, all homeowners are eligible based on income alone. There is no longer any age or disability requirement.

The credits help many homeowners. Last year alone more than $36 million was paid out to nearly one hundred thousand homeowners. The average tax credit was $364, which can pay in many cases a sizeable portion of the tax.

Those who applied early, usually by the middle of May, reaped the additional benefit of having the credit deducted from the tax bill, or at least received the credit along with the bill.

Even though most property Station Teams owners have now received their tax bills, those who qualify on the basis of their income can still receive a tax credit, but in order to do so they must apply by September 1. Obviously, it is now too late to have the credit deducted from the tax bill, but the owner will receive a voucher which can be used in payment of the tax. If the owner, in the meantime, has already paid the tax as a precaution or to take advantage of any discount, he can exchange the credit voucher for a check. Tax credits of as much as $1200 are now authorized, with the actual amount being determined in accordance with the owner's gross income. The tax credit is still limited to one home, which must be the primary dwelling, and it is allowed from Mt. Storm included: Dave to a maximum of $40,000 of the assessed value.

This is not an automatic from the Maint. Dept. and credit against the property tax. Even those owners who have received a credit in a prior year must apply every year. Many people do not understand this. Applications for the Homeowners Tax Credit are available in most public libraries and at all assessments offices.

Vandals Desecrate County Cemetery

Vandals desecrated the Sand Spring Cemetery near Friendsville sometime between July 4 and 6, moving 11 headstones and writing profanity on one.

According to the report filed with the Garrett County sheriff's office by Deputy Richard Kutchman, unknown persons moved nine headstones and placed them around and atop a large headstone. Two other headstones were moved to different graves, and profanity was written all over another tombstone.

In other cases, Deputy Russell Drenning notes that Terry Deal, owner of the Tackle Box Sporting Goods Store in Grantsville, had the coin box and approximately $20 in change removed from a Coca-Cola machine on the front porch of his business.

On July 4 James L. Railey, Jr., reported that an in-dash AM-FM stereo cassette tape player had been stolen from his 1977 Saab. Also stolen from the Railey property by Deep Creek Bridge was a "Kidder" graphite water ski. Deputy D.W. Tucker is investigating.

Win Competition The first Vepco Fire & First Aid Competiton was held in the Fossil & Training Center in Richmond, Va., on Saturday, June 25, and was won handily

by the teams from the Mt.

Storm Power Station. The fire competition included knot-tying, proper donning of the breathing apparatus, nozzle coupling, boot race, hose coupling and water flow, and bucket brigade. All of the events were scored on speed.

accuracy and safety. The First Aid competition was based on speed, patient assessment, and patient packaging and handling.

The members of the fire team Johnson, Donnie Amtower, Elmer Gaither, Curtis Porter

Protection Dept. Captains were Donnie Amtower, fire; and Lynn Corrall, first aid, with the coach being Randy Henderson, station fire marshal. Of the six Vepco Power Stations that participated, Mt. Storm Power Station placed first with 400 points. The Portsmouth Power Station placing a distant second with 290.

Correction Noted

It was incorrectly reported in last week's edition of The Republican that Stephen Beckman, Swanton, had been arrested the week of June 27 for illegal hunting of a deer in the Dry Run area.

Beckman's brother, James Ray Beckman, was the one arrested on that charge, along with a male juvenile.

Retains Membership In American Academy Of Family Physicians

Dr. Thomas G. Johnson, of the Garrett Medical Group of Oakland, has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education. The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Lorie Toston, daughter of John Toston, Deer Park, was among the graduates of the Multiple Handican Unit of the Maryland School for Blind at Baltimore on June 15.

She received a certificate from the Baltimore City Board of Education stating that her achievements were commensurate with her abilities. Lorie will now be a resident of Cottage B, Brandenburg Center, Cumberland, where she might receive further education through the local board of education in communicating her needs and feelings by using a communications board. The C&P Telephone Co. Pioneers have provided Lorie with a mechanism that helps her to operate a tape player by herself. She has continued to progress in sitting with slight support and use of her communications board.

RETURN OF THE SINGLE HOME

The new trend in housing is the return of the single-family house. The long uptrend of apartments is not only over but has already started to go in other direction-shifting back to single-family activity. This is the beginning of a trend that will continue for the next decade and a half.

We have crossed the threshold of a singlefamily housing boom that in the next 15 years will rival the post-war single family housing boom of the late 1940's and 1950's and in one very real sense will exceed that golden age of housing activity. More singlefamily housing units will be started in the next 15 years than from 1946 through 1960.

The volume of single-family housing sales in recent years is an indicator of the trend. Sales of singlefamily housing have soared since their recession low point at the beginning of 1975. Sales of existing homes reached record levels by the end of 1975. Every month since then the number of existing homes sold has exceeded the level ever recorded for that month.

Lisa Savage Finds Restaurant, and the during the pageant. Miss Maryland Event "Inspiring"

by Theresa Sisler

Although Lisa Savage did not bring back the Miss Maryland Scholarship Pageant title following competition held recently in Hagerstown, she says she feels she gained much inspiring experience that will benefit her in future attempts to achieve the title.

Miss Savage, who holds the Miss Garrett County title, competed against 20 other young women from across the state. Amy Elizabeth Keys, representing Howard County, was the state winner.

Events began June 23 with evening gown and swimsuit competitions and Friday with a talent contest. Scores were tallied on Saturday and the top ten finalists were chosen.

As Lisa relates events, the young women were constantly occupied and active, on the go from 8:45 a.m. until 11:30 p.m. each day. She appeared on television three times while in Hagerstown, once while taking part in a $50 shopping spree, once at a McDonald's Restaurant, and the third time

Venice Inn, and the girls were kept under strict security, for "exceptional and enduring allowed to visit with no one but support." She also said "It has their parents, and then for only been fun. I feel good because I ten to 15 minutes in a special conference room. Much time rett County. I would like to was devoted to practice, not encourage more people to get in only for their talent routines, but for two production places on stage.

their material on religion. Later, I was told by a leading comrade that if I didn't give up my religious beliefs I would have to die along with the ministers and priests after the revolution. He said dialectic materialism and religion don't mix, and anyone with religious tendencies would be a menace to a Communist state. He gave me a number of anti-religious books to read, in hopes I would soon renounce my Christian faith. I asked him about the thousands of 'liberal' ministers who have either defended or furthered

the Communist cause. He said "These liberal chameleons the mouthpiece in disclosing its stand to the world. The rest made as to its strength. This policy has led many to believe that the party is weak. As an argument they refer to the small vote of the Communist Party in the general elections.

The party does not allow its power to be shown through votes cast for its presidential candidates. It uses the campaign only to further the destruction of our democratic system, the very system which gives them the right to vote.

It can be truthfully said that there are more Communists in America today than there were in Russia before the

The Oakland Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on July 28, 1983 at 7:00 p.m. in the Town Council meet ing room (Oakland Town Hall). The Board will review an application made by Dr. David L. Bolinger for a Variance from the terms of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance as it affects the floor area allowed for utilization by a ome occupation. Specifically Mr. Bolinger wishes to utilize a portion of the basement of his prospective property (Cooper property) for a doctor's office. The proposed office would exceed the 25% ground floor area requirement normally allowed under the home occu pation provision of the Ordinance. The property is located on North Third Street (Zoned TR).

Safety Seats May Be Rented To Obev New State Law

Persons with children under ministers a car seat loaner protwo and who have not yet acquired a car safety seat to comply with Maryland's child restraint law may wish to consider renting rather than buying them, say state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene officials.

The law, which takes effect January 1, 1984, requires children aged two and younger to be restrained in car safety seats when riding in automobiles.

Information on both purchase or rental of car safety seats is available from Project KISS, Kids in Safety Seats, of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Health Education Center. Project KISS offers a list of selected stores and prices as well as a free booklet, *Consumer Guide to Car Safety Seats." The mude describes a lards and gives infor-

Homeowners Are Reminded Of Tax Credit Program

With the mailing of the July property tax bills by the local governments, the Maryland Department of Assessments and Taxation wants to remind homeowners that the State of Maryland has established the Homeowner's Tax Credit Program whereby qualified homeowners of all ages can receive a tax credit of as much as $1,200 based upon their income. Tax credit eligibility will be calculated on the applicant's 1982 gross household income.

It is emphasized that this tax credit is available to homeowners of all ages and not just the elderly or disabled persons. In addition, the tax credit program could be especially helpful to those persons unfortunate enough to be out of work for an extended period of time in 1982 without SUB pay or a working spouse, thereby resulting in a An "Introductory Coffee" for significantly lower income than

Welcome to the Fair!

The Officers and Directors of the Garrett County Fair take great pleasure in extending to you a most cordial invitation to exhibit, participate in, and attend the 1983 Fair.

We would like to have you and your friends be with us this year; whether or not you have been with us in the past. It is through your interest and loyal support that the Garrett County Fair has grown, and again we thank you for your continued patronage at the Fair, and your cooperation in making it a grand success.

The Fair is a never ending educational project for young people as well as adults. It is a learning process that goes on and on.

The Fair is an excellent method of realizing social benefits and good times during our week

We are very happy with the progress the Garrett County Fair has made during the past 26 years. It has progressed far beyond our expectations, when we were planning to organize a Fair. This has been due to the cooperation and work of the people in Garrett County as a

We would like at this time to thank the advertisers whose advertising appears in the Premium List, and the Commercial exhibitors. Without their cooperation this fine supplement and the Fair would not be possible, and we acknowledge their assistance by taking the opportunity to urge you to patronize them whenever possible.

We express our sincere appreciation to the 4-H Clubs, FFA Clubs, Farm Groups, Retail Merchants, and the County Commissioners for their support.

Certainly last but not least we owe so very much to the Maryland State Fair Board for its continued financial support to our Fair.

An Open Letter To The Christian Community Dear Fellow Christians,

We are a family of eight (soon to be nine!) that is yet quite breathless at finding itself in a most unexpected (for us!) ministry—that of operating a Christian Book Store. We came into this ministry unbelievably "green" (as some of you may well have suspected) with nothing more than a love of good books and a desire to see God's Word go forth. How thankful we are that one ability God honors is "availability" Allow us to introduce ourselves-from the "top" on down Milton, whose hard work as a building contractor makes our ministry financially possible. Dawn, who has thus far had the main responsibility of operating the store, but who plans on taking a "vacation" early in July (for the arrival of family member No. 9). Regina, almost 17 (that dates Dad & Mom, doesn't it?)

who is "learning the ropes" in the store this summer. Carolina and Marylyn, 14 (twins) who have taken over much of "Mom's work" at home, including a lot of the cooking

Clarissa, Autumn and David, our pre-schoolers, whom many of you have already met at the store. As you can see, we do have a family ministry, with each

one involved

We are, as it is possible, increasing our stock and improving our services to you. We now offer: Hundreds of Bibles and books available in one week or less. No extra charge on most special orders.

Vacation Bible School materials. Free name imprinting on all Bibles purchased from us. Subscriptions to your favorite Christian magazines at the lowest publisher prices.

Catalogs and informative books and brochures available for your in store perusal. Christian wedding supplies. We are adding new items and services regularly, so keep coming back. Haven't found us yet? We're located on

Off-Farm Expenses Squeezing Your Income?

If you're like most dairymen, the squeeze is hitting pretty hard these days. That's why it'll pay you to invite your Young's Feed Management Consultant in for a visit. His goal is the same as Young's has been for 75 years—to trim your off-farm costs by getting every bit of value out of your home-grown feeds. From forage testing to taking the guesswork out of feed balancing, his service will help improve your cash flow and margins. It's worth some of

A good jelly made of fruit juice is clear, sparkling, free from crystals or sediment, has tender texture and natural color and flavor of fresh fruit. When turned from glass, it is firm enough to hold its shape, but quivers, and is tender enough to cut or break easily, leaving clean, clear, sharp cleavage. Jellies, covered with glass or tin top: 1/2 pt. or 1 cup, 2 piece lids.

13. Gooseberry 14. Other (define) I. Jams, Butters, Marmalades, Conserve $2.50

$2.00 $1.50 Jams are usually made of one fruit, crushed or jammed together into a mass of an even, soft consistency thick enough to spread easily or be divided into portions. Juices are not separated from fruits and are of a jelly like consistency. Conserves are a jam-like product made of two or more fruits. They often contain nuts or raisins. They are made of very small whole or pieces of fruit cooked or jammed into a mixture of an even, soft consistency, the liquid jelly-like in character. Name and flavor of the conserve is that of the dominant fruit. Fruit butters are smooth, even, fine grained mixtures of medium soft consistency, without seeds or small pieces of fruit and with no evidence of juice as a separate liquid. Butters are less sweet than jams, preserves, marmalades, or conserve—usually about 1/2 to 2/3 lb. sugar to 1 lb. of fruit.

6. Strawberry Jam 7. Raspberry Jam

J. Preserves $2.50 $2.00 $1.50 Preserves are made usually of one fruit, but more than one may be used. The fruit, whole or in large pieces, is cooked in a syrup until clear and transparent, tender, firm, crisp, and well plumped. The shape of fruit is retained. Juice is of a thick syrupy consistency completely surrounding the fruit. In general, 34 lb sugar to 1 lb. of fruit is used.

3. 4-H Club and FFA members must abide by the General Rules and Regulations found in the front of the catalog. 4. All animals exhibited must be the bonafide property of club members for at least 60 days prior to the opening of the Fair.

Animals must be registered in the name of the Exhibitor. Registration papers will be checked by the supervisor in charge. Baby beef animals must be owned by Exhibitor not later than January 1, 1983. 5. 4 H and FFA members are responsible for the care of their animals while on the grounds and for cleanliness of the barns used by them. Prize money will not be paid exhibitors who use unclean blankets or who fail to keep the animals and barns attractive at all times. Superintendents and chairmen reserve the privilege of ruling on such cases. (An exception must be made for girls carrying animal projects since accommodations are not available for housing girls during the week of the Fair.) Contact the agent or a member of your club about feeding arrangements at night.

6. Members are permitted to exhibit two entries per class.

Any member competing for a special fitting or showing award must be able to certify that he or she cared for the animal at least 60 days prior to the show. 8. All entries are subject to the 1982 Health Regulations as outlined by the Maryland Livestock Sanitary Service. State Board of Agriculture. For complete information consult your Extension Agent or Vo Ag teacher. 9. Bedding and feed must be furnished by the

10. All exhibitors are expected to be neat and presentable as possible while showing their animals.

11. Any club member staying on the grounds will observe the 11:00 curfew. 12. Any entry in the 4 H and FFA classes is not eligible to compete in the open adult classes. 13. No 4-H/FFA member will be permitted to consume alcholic beverages or use drugs on the fair grounds. Violations may result in forfeiting of premiums and being expelled from the

Composers' Group Files Suit Against County Businesses

The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers has filed separate suits for copyright infringement against the Grantsville Holiday Inn and Grantsville Foodland, Inc., and owner Thomas E.

In complaints filed in U.S. District Court for the District of Maryland, Baltimore, ASCAP claims that a number of its copyrighted musical compositions were performed without authorization at Holiday Inn last March 12 and 13, and at Grantsville Foodland March 12.

The violations allegedly occurred during performances by live entertainers at Holiday Inn and during a radio broadcast transmitted over Foodland's intercom system and involved six different songs at each establishment.

ASCAP said the lawsuits were brought under provisions of the U. S. Copyright Act of 1976 and are based on the internationally accepted principle that copyrights are property because the product of a person's mind is just as much his or her property as the product of a person's hands and cannot be reproduced without permission.

The suits, as stated by ASCAP, were filed as part of its continuing efforts to license users of copyrighted music, giving them the right to perform publicly the copyrighted compositions of ASCAP's writer members.

Schroyer could not be contacted for comment on the case. ASCAP is represented by the Baltimore law firm of Frank Bernstein, Conaway, and Gold-

Frisbees, bandaids, deodorant, cards, sunglasses, French fries, cigarettes and candy were also among the items stolen. The total loss, including some $49 in clearing and grading the propchange, was estimated at $1,400 by David Beard, who leases and manages the concession stand.

DUAL REACTION - This two-sided picture could begin with "nice doggie" and end with "not on the nose, kid!" if doggies could talk, and babies could comprehend. Perhaps the only way to learn in this life is to experiment and take chances, but it always helps to have a guardian angel over one's shoulder, as this little one did. Seen at the recent Friendsville Old Fashioned Fiddlers' Contest, this pair and their animal friend seemed as in tune as the performers, and having just as much fun, to boot.

DINNER IS SERVED - For most woodland creatures, finding grain, nuts, and seeds is an ordeal requiring careful hunting, competition from other predators, and a reasonable amount of luck, but not so for "Chippy," a local chipmunk of the oak tree variety, who's found a gourmet restaurant, of sorts, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Fike, and their son, who live in Oakland. "Chippy" began visiting the Fike family last year, and just recently became bold enough to sample nuts and seeds offered to him by members of the family. Recently, he's become brazen enough to actually climb upon laps to stage his begging routine, as demonstrated by William Fike, Jr., above. With this kind of attention, it's likely that "Chippy" will continue to visit the Fike family on a regular basis, and discourage his friends, which he's already done, from entering his private domain.

County Natives Discover "It's A Small World"

Two women who attended the same Garrett County high school in the 1940s, recently had an unusual meeting at which time they discovered it's a small world-and also that they had something very much in subsidy from the county, as has common. Mary (Blackshear) Montgomery of Blacksburg, Va., who graduated from Accident

High School in the class of 1948, recently accompanied her husband, Gen. James Montgomery of the U.S. Army Reserve, to a promotional conference at Ft. Meade, where her part was pinning his second star on his uniform. Entertainment was provided for the officers' wives in the occurred July 17 at the Deep to the program through the jobs form of a shopping tour at the new Harbor Pavilion in Baltimore. While eating lunch there, Mrs. Montgomery inquired of the lady across the table where she and her husband had come from. The woman replied that their home was in Greenville. S.C., but they had just driven in from Western Maryland, where she had grown up. When Mrs. Western Maryland, the woman's reply was, "You've probably never heard of Mc-

> Henry.' Then she identified herself as Lois (Storey) Sutton, a 1944 graduate of Accident High School and the wife of Gen. B.K. Sutton. Registering their mutual surprise, Mrs. Montgomery relates, "We couldn't believe that two people who had gone to the same little high school could possible meet like that—especially since there are only 35 two-star Generals in the whole U.S.A.' Mrs. Sutton is the daughter of the late Matthew and Velma H. Storey, who were residents of McHenry. She graduated from Grantsville Mayor Frostburg State College and taught school prior to her marriage. Mrs. Montgomery is a graduate of the University of Tennessee and taught school in Blacksburg, Va., where her husband is on the staff of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. She is the daughter of the former Accident Elementary teacher, Arnelle Snyder, and the niece of Mrs. J. Milton De-Witt, Accident cation's policy on curricular, meeting. co-curricular and extracurricular activities were presented to the board by a review committee at last Thursday's Robert F. Rodeheaver, director of secondary education, was spokesman for the committee, and member Ron Stemple also made several comments in support of the recommendations.

committee recommending that students be able to practice during a period of ineligibility; that ineligibility periods last four and one-half weeks instead of the present nine weeks; and that students may not fail more than one subject regardless of their grade level. Under the present policy, ninth graders must pass five classes and seniors pass

The group also made a recommendation for administrative procedure: that at the end of the last marking period, the fourth term grade on Montgomery asked where in eligibility for the succeeding marking period. The committee feels fall activities should have a different criteria for eligibility than winter and spring activities

The group also recommends that nationally chartered clubs such as FFA, FHA and FBLA be changed to the category of co-curricular.

The committee was commended for its time and effort spent in reviewing the policy by Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, who suggested that the

Holliday Is New

Fred Holliday was selected as the mayor of Grantsville by fellow council members Monday evening, when William G. Edwards resigned. Edwards will be moving to Frostburg.

Holliday will serve the remainder of the two-year term vacated by Edwards, and will be officially sworn in before the August town council meeting. In other business Monday night, the town discussed a meeting Wednesday, July 20, at 7 p.m. on the Farmers Home Administration application which seeks funds to pay some $150,000 in additional sewer system costs.

If that funding is not available from the state, the town will have to either raise the sewer fees or charge individual homeowners whose lines are defective with the cost of replacement. That cost could vary from almost zero to $3,000 according to Wendell Keaton. municipal coordinator.

Larry Groer, a spokesperson for a group of Accident area residents, told the commissioners his group wanted to see the road and bridge kept in the county system and would do work, especially to the bridge.

County Sewerage Plants To Quit Using Chlorine

State officials are beginning to enforce a law passed two years ago by the Maryland General Assembly which could mean expenditures of between $60,000 and $150,000 by private and public wastewater treatment facilities throughout the

The law, lobbied by environmentalists in the state, bans the use of chlorine in disinfecting wastewater to be discharged in natural trout streams. The hold up in enforcement of the law was a provision that the law would become effective only if federal funds were allotted for the conversions. This spring, state officials received conformation federal money would be available.

According to state officials, the law affects eight private plants in the county and five public plants which must convert to one of two alternative disinfecting methods by the end of 1984. The public plants, which qualify for federal and state funds, will not be working as strictly against the deadline since their conversion work will depend upon when the funding is available.

Mary Jo Garreis, a state health department official, said the department estimates the costs of conversion will run between $60,000 to $150,000 depending on the size of the

Dave Thomas, environmental coordinator at Mettiki Coal Company, estimates the costs of conversion of the three facilities, one at each mine, will be $60,000 each.

Thomas and Wendell Beitzel, county sanitary district administrator showed concern about the conversion noting that chlorine is the most effective disinfecting method and has virtually eliminated spread of disease through water. The two alternatives, ultra-violet and ozone, are not as effective and cost more to operate and main-

None of the operators of the facilities in the county who were contacted had vet chosen which method they will use. Beitzel stated the Trout Run wastewater treatment facility for the towns of Loch Lynn and Mt. Lake Park is to undergo a more extensive upgrading besides conversion from chlorine treatment. Some of the operators noted that conversion from chlorine involved more than replacing the disinfecting equipment, but would also mean alterations in the treatment of the effluent before it arrives at the final disinfecting stage. Betizel explained that the Continued on Page 3

McHenry Man Found Not Guilty On Arson Charge

A McHenry man, Gerald King Perry, was found not guilty Friday of arson in a January, 1982, fire which destroyed his home. The jury deliberated ap-

Local Sighting Of Burrowing Owl First For State

The first sighting ever in Maryland of a burrowing owl was officially recorded this past week in Garrett County by local birdwatchers. The animal was photographed in an area south of Oakland along a roadway by Fran Pope, Mt. Lake Park, and her photos (one of which is on page one) are now part of the documentation of the record.

Behind The Scenes At The Playbouse

I received an opportunity to do something last week that I have wanted to do for quite some time. I got to play a part, literally, in a production with the Garrett County Playhouse. "Laburnum Grove" became my second home, or, rather, I became Elsie Radfern, who lived in Laburnum Grove, Shooters Green, England.

I have done shows before, but never a full length play in six days. Rehearsals started last Thursday, a week before opening night. It's a crash course in learning lines and blocking. I spent most of the day scribbling in my play book, "cross", "sit," "roll

The next day was the same, from ten in the morning until four in the afternoon. It all went very fast, and I fervently hoped that my brain was keeping track of it. Elsie wasn't an acrobat or even a Richard Simmons fan, but after rehearsal, every muscle in my body told me it was there, and most definitely. I was exhausted! As I lay motionless on the couch Friday night, I remembered that the rest of the group was performing "Confusions" at the moment. I would have applauded, but I was too tired.

Saturday is study day, and study I did. I was also working, teaching swimming leasons. I'm sure the kids thought I had lost my mind as I harped about their surface dives and then yelled something inaudible about Aunt Lucy of the Tube Station of my fiance, Harold. They all whispered a lot that day.

Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday we continued, working in a small auditorium, using plastic chairs and pantomiming props. Our lines were to be learned, but there were times when I opened my mouth and nothing but a faint sigh came out. That's when one yells "Line!" to the stage manager, and he patiently reads it. Occasionally, one or another of us would get confused and everything would turn into a laughing mess, but there were relatively few of those times, and we proceeded fairly well. Someone was always there to help me out when I was feeling particularly stupid, and I appreciated that.

Tuesday night we rehearsed on the stage for the first time. We had all the props and furniture-one night before the performance. It was bumpy, but we got through it, and I began to feel like I had really accomplished something.

Opening night I felt more like simply throwing up, but it went well. Of course there were moments—those awful moments when everything falls silent on stage. We'd all clear our throats and blink, just to take up time. Someone always saved it, though, and the audience never knew the difference. Surprisingly to me, that didn't happen very often. Yes, we had done it-learned a full-length play in only one week. I was feeling fairly amazed with myself when I heard one of the other actors Thursday night, practicing his lines for next week's show between the acts of Laburnum Grove. Needless to say, I was humbled, and my respect for the company grew. Of course things went on backstage that the audience never

Now, the camp's board of directors must wrangle with the company which sold them the plant to make the ultra-violet system work properly. Past efforts to bring the company back to fix the system have been unsuccessful.

The ozone treatment involves manufacturing the gas on site and injecting it into the water. This method, explained Thomas, is a health risk because of some of the emissions from the process.

Edgar Harman, director of the environmental health division of the Garrett County Health Department, notes his department opposed the bill which is primarily a measure to protect the eggs and offspring of trout which are harmed by

His department also tried to convince state legislators to at least allow dechlorination units which neutralize the chlorine after the disinfecting process. But, environmentalists argued that there was no guarantee the dechlorination units would be properly operated.

Politics Vs. Good Business

A national newscast scarcely goes by these days without at least one mention of the growing federal deficit. Numbers like one trillion dollars of indebtedness are being tossed around, a figure which is almost impossible to comprehend. One gets some idea of the enormity of such a sum when he realizes that a stack of $1,000 bills equaling one trillion dollars would be 100 miles high!

Usually accompanying the news reports of the statistics are comments and suggestions from the various "experts" in elected positions as to how to stop this frightening growth of the national debt. So far, the correct suggestions, if there have been any, are not being implemented or there have been no correct suggestions.

President Reagan made a wise move, in our opinion, in setting up the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control, which is now releasing some of its findings after a 15-month study. The survey was conducted by what has become known as the Grace Commission, named after its chairman, J. Peter Grace, board chairman of W. R. Grace and Company. The Commission includes a 163-member executive committee of top executives from business and labor.

The commission's preliminary finding is not surprising: that the federal government is not being managed effectively and efficiently. It suggests that the government could save more than 340 billion dollars over the next three years, which would wipe out most of the national debt. The commission found waste in the departments of defense, treasury, health and human services, and agriculture, as well as in numerous other agencies.

J. Peter Grace, a tough, outspoken individual who has been a top business executive for over 40 years, lays the blame for the deficit directly on the shoulders of Congress. He calls Congress a "club" in which the members make decisions based on the desires of special interest groups and by means of a "trade-off" system, where one politician supports another's proposal, not because he agrees with it, but because he can then expect support for his own proposals in return. Politics and good business sense, unfortunately, often do not mix.

Another major problem, he claims, is that the present system of government management tends to discourage those officials who are willing to stick their necks out to eliminate waste. Those who try to make changes for more efficiency are stymied in the efforts by, guess who, Congress.

We believe Mr. Grace and his commission are on the right track and we are anxious for their final report, to be released in September. The federal government needs to be managed more like a business. If it is not, then we, our children and, particularly, our grandchildren, are going to be in serious trouble.

Uncle Sam, Mind Your Chips

by Carol Fox

Since the beginning of fundraising time, groups and organizations have used various forms of entertainment, laced with a slight human desire for gaming excitement, to raise money for good and useful causes. One of the oldest forms of raising cash comes from the game of bingo, a fun event utilizing cards with numbers listed vertically under letters which form the word BINGO. The object of the game is for one person to randomly call out numbers between 1 and 75 under one of those aforementioned letters, and for other participants to cover those numbers (if they appear on one or more of the bingo cards) to form a pattern (straight lines, diamonds, and the like). Olden times called for corn to be used as a marker, and candy, gum, cookies, or (heaven forbid) pennies to be used as prizes.

Today, things have changed a bit, and plastic discs now cover the numbers with transparent color, ink-filled bottles mark paper cards, and the penny prizes have changed to dollars. Bingo games occur in every town, county, and state, even though certain rules have been applied by governments (what else is new?) and certain groups occasionally point out that the form of gambling that bingo addicts (like myself) succumb to is (or should be) illegal. Uncle Sam won't let us (The Republican) or any paper print the word bingo in an advertisement that goes through the U. S. Postal System. Churches and charitable organizations which have used this harmless game to raise money for important things like food and shelter expense, fire fighting equipment, etc., now have to make up some "corny" (pardon the pun) name for the old reliable game of bingo. It sure sounds queer to hear about a "Corn Party" or to be reminded of "Party Games" which will be played this week to help raise money to support the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad

We hardcore players have a hard enough time just getting through the evening, what with having to race six people to a "favorite seat," squeeze in line to secure a "lucky" card, watch the frowns and listen to the grumbles if Lady Luck sends more than one prize our way, etc., etc. Then, we have the heat and humidity of summer, which makes for sticky chips on the fingers, or melts them in their box to form one large plastic lump; or the plastic seats in some halls which make stranger than life noises when you remove your bottom portion after sitting for three hours, without having to put up with this silly wording that ad persons are forced to use now. Why doesn't the postal inspector find out why I'm being threatened with 25-cent stamps instead of worrying about our weekly "entertainment"

This man was a giver, taking very little for himself and offering what little he had to the ones he loved. Many people failed to see this quality. I guess that they really never took the time to look deeper.

As our lives go on, I suggest that we do look deeper-into one another; taking the time to seek out our hearts and to muster the courage to openly offer ourselves to the ones that our lives touch. It's time for a little introspection.

A Friend

To the Editor: Following my May 10 letter to the editor and four attempts to contact the paper by phone on Friday, July 8, I was very disappointed that The Republican could not cover a most exciting sailboat regatta on Deep Creek Lake July 9 and 10. This brought 90 participants from Maryland. Pittsburgh, Ohio, New York, Michigan and New Jersey . visitors that I am sure added enue to the county's tourist

After subscribing to your paper for 13 years I was even more dismayed to realize the 'ho-hum' attitude of the paper when one final contact was made on July 9. At least this most colorful regatta was enjoyed by the State Park and surrounding spectators!

In any event, a special thank you goes to Park Rangers Jim Wilburn and Steve Liller for all the courtesies extended to us. Sincerely.

Sharon L. Tichnell Glen Burnie Dear Ms. Tichnell,

Attempting to schedule a photographer and/or reporter for an event which is going to occur some two months later and then not receiving any follow-up information or telephone call until the day before the event makes it extremely difficult for us to arrange such coverage. With so many events happening, particularly during the summer months, our photographer's weekends are quite busy and we strongly request that persons contact us at least three or four days in advance to schedule him. If you had even called us one day sooner, I feel certain we could have provided coverage of the regatta. Also, according to our front office personnel, you made two phone calls to this office on July 8 and stated that you would call back at about 4 p.m. That call was never received. When our receptionist asked if we could phone you, the reply was that ou would be difficult to reach

Nonetheless, we are indeed sorry that we missed the regatta. It no doubt would have provided some great photos for our paper. Please contact us next year about a week before the event and I guarantee that we'll be there!

In the fading twilight, the rotting frame and sagging roofline seems to merge with the tangled underbrush and scrub trees that have pressed in, protectively, to surround the old timbers. It could be anywhere. Just one of many such neglected churches in our county . . . hidden away near forest and field. Its name-if such it had-is gone forever, lost in the final collapse, as the buckled walls curved outward and the doors, frame and all, fell inward against the rotted floorboards.

In all this decay there remains one remnant—more obstinate than others-of human hands' work in days gone by. The fieldstones fashioned into the sturdy foundation and steps now lead the curious visitor just as far as the door . . . for only the foolhardy would venture within.

It is enough to stare . . . and wonder.

Whitewash still gleams in the dim interior. A few panes of glass in the windows reveal the odd bubbles and ripples of more primitive manufacture-something for small boys to look at as minds wandered during hour-long sermons and grown-up

Who were they-these frontier churchmen, who raised their wooden temples close to their farms along the winding ridges, or tucked them in the valleys below .

The names were not so important then. It was enough to share the scriptures, to sing the Psalms, to listen to the fervent preaching. It was enough to gather, occasionally, at the water's edge.

After all, the Master had said "Go ye into all the world . . Somehow these sturdy preachers and their little flocks knew that was their job, too. And so, before the fields were tamed and the first harvest in, one imagines them gathering to raise these walls. It was their part in this larger than life mission.

Little girls in gingham, with ribbons in their hair, and boys with ruddy, well-scrubbed faces squealed with delight and ran out the door, while their older brothers and sisters exchanged glances and thought about church socials and buggy rides at twilight.

It's getting dark—time to go. A final peek inside reveals the skeleton of an old piane waiting in vain for some ghostly musician to strike a chord.

The little one at my side shivers. "It's creepy!" But it's not. A strange beauty, a quite breathless grandeur in the silent temple, in the crumbling walls.

Kimberly Ann Habel, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Habel, Oakland, has been selected for competition in the 1983 Modern Miss State Finals to be held at the Washington Motel in Gaithersburg on August 13.

Modern Miss has selected outstanding young women from all over the state to participate in the activities. The program is designed to recognize young women, 13 to 18, who excel in scholastic achievement and community involvement. Contestants are judged on poise, personality, grooming, and a speech or talent presentation, as well as scholastic and civic achievements. Entrants must have a "B" or better grade average and document at least ten hours volunteer service to a community or charitable organization.

The competition is the official state preliminary for the Modern Miss National Finals to be held in December.

Miss Habel is a student at Northern High School. Her school and community activities include: Drill Team -Captain, Drill Team Club, Ski Club, Chorus, Student Council representative, Senior Youth Group, Junior Choir, Sunday School Nursery Teacher, Winterfest Queen, and volunteer worker at Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home.

Police Cooperation Solves Area Thefts

Area police, cooperating in efforts to solve a recent series of breakings and enterings and thefts, expect to arrest three county men later this week in connection with the incidents in Oakland and Deep Creek Lake.

During the past month, there were four such incidents in Oakland, at the GCC Center on Center Street, and at the three arcades, Quarterflash, Becky's and Moose's. Foods were removed from GCC, and video machines were broken into in the arcades.

Maryland State Police, Oakland Police, and the sheriff's department are collaborating on the various incidents and have come up with at least three names of suspects.

Robert Welch, manager of the Honi Honi Bar and Pizza Pub at Deep Creek Lake, reported July 2 that someone had removed alcoholic beverages and tee shirts from the Honi. Estimated loss was set at $398. Apparently several of the shirts have been recovered.

TT & T Vending had two vending machines at that location broken into, and coins and cigarettes valued at $147 were taken

There was a breaking and entering at Wynlyn's Stop and Shop at the lake July 12 and numerous items such as candy and chips were removed. Two machines were also entered and $70 in coins was missing. On July 13, the Route 219 Drive-In Theatre concession stand was entered and money and miscellaneous items stolen.

Breakings and enterings and thefts at Funland and Tilgner's Drive In at McHenry were reported by Maryland State Police two weeks ago in The Republican.

Reunion Dance Set

The Southern High School Class of 1973 will hold a reunion dance on Saturday, July 30, at the Village Inn, McHenry, from 7:30 p.m. to 2 a.m. The admission price will be $15 per person. All persons are invited to attend.

A picnic will be held the next day at Broadford Park for graduates and their families, beginning at 1 p.m.

MSHA Warns Of Seasonal Dangers In Coal Mines

Officials at the Morgantown, W. Va., area office of the Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) are advising coal miners that increased humidity during the summer months may create unsafe conditions in the mine roof.

District Manager Rondal L. Keaton, who heads MSHA District 3, covering northern West Virginia and Maryland, said that many area mines have roof rock that contains shales particularly susceptible to deterioration due to moisture. Such deterioration can cause pieces of the mine roof to fall! On warm and humid summer days, he said, as many as 230 gallons of water can condense from the air entering each working section through the mine's ventilation system.

"Miners should be aware of these changes in the mine roof in the summer months so that loose or deteriorated roof can be either pulled down or provided with additional support," Keaton said.

He added that in the first six months of this year, 13 coal miners had been killed in roof fall accidents nationwide. While none of the fatalities occurred in District 3, some 31 roof-related accidents did occur in the area, and 18 of these indidents resulted in injuries serious enough to require miners to lose days of work.

This year MSHA's Morgantown staff has pursued a "special emphasis" program aimed at increasing awareness of proper roof control procedures and ensuring compliance with the federal regulations. The program combines specially focused inspections, training, an informational campaign, and comprehensive reviews of individual mines' roof control efforts.

"All of us—the coal mine operators, miners, and MSHA—need to stay alert to the hazards of mine roof, especially during the humid summer months," said Keaton. "If we exercise caution and work hard we can avoid injuries this year."

The Senior Division Oakland team whipped Valley, 10-5, on Saturday to take the championship and will now advance to regional playoff action.

In the double-elimination district tournament, Oakland entered with no losses and Saturday's competition with no losses and Valley came in with one loss. Valley stopped the Oaklanders in the first contest, 11-7. Bruce Bosley paced Oakland's hitting attack with three, including a home run, and Chad King went two for three in the losing effort.

In game two Jon Reneslacis went the distance on the mound for Oakland and aided his own cause by rapping a pair of hits, including a home run. Bosley added a two-out single in the fifth inning which was good for Assuming their first regional game was this past Monday, the Oakland team traveled to Thurmont to face the winner of the District 5 title. Upon their arrival, however, they were informed that the District 5 title had not yet been determined and the game was postponed until the following Monday, July 25.

Russell Sines, of My-O-Tire, provided funding for the bus trip to Thurmont on Monday.

Buying A New Home Appliance, Air Conditioner Or Furnace?

COMPARE ENERGYGUIDE LABELS

It Can Save You A Lot Of Money!

The price you pay for a new home appliance is only part of your expense! The operating cost after you install it in your home is where the dollars can really add up. That's because all appliances are not alike-some are much more efficient than others. That's why the ENERGYGUIDE label is so important because it tells you what it will cost to operate your new appliance. So read and compare the big yellow label attached to all new refrigerators, freezers, dishwashers, water heaters, washers, air conditioners and furnaces. It will tell you far more than just the purchase price. For more information call or stop in at your nearest Potomac Edison office and ask for your free copy of "A Consumer's Guide To Appliance Labeling." Then when you buy, make sure your new appliance is energy efficient.

COMPUTERS AND YOU

Computers have acces sories. You need to connec your computer to your color or black and white TV. A switch is included with the computer which permits switching between TV programs and the computer You may want to add a tape recorder of disc drive to store programs you write, or to utilize programs you pur chase. Someday you may want to add a printer to record on paper. A telephone modem can be added to enable your computer to talk other computers a libraries, businesses, friend's computers. You don't require these acces sories but like adding appli ances in your kitchen, or new tools to a workbench, they are time saving and can ac complish new chores.

You can write your own pro

puter work for you, and you can purchase programs written by other people. This is a new industry and new computer programs are appearing which are making computers increasingly use ful and necessary. One particularly useful program is the one that does word processing. It lets you save written material to be in cluded in future documents at a touch of the keyboard. lets you rearrange sentences, paragraphs words before the final printing, even has spelling corrections. It all makes for savings in time, space, and temper. It's useful at home, in organizations, in business It all starts with that inexpensive computer, the Vic-20 or TI-99/4A for less than a hundred dollars, both of which cost several hundred dollars only a few months ago. You will spend months discovering all their capabillities. We, at Englander's Pharmacy, urge you to have one in your home now. It's easier to begin getting acquainted with computers now rather than having to catch up later. As children get their half hour a week on a computer at school, they are going to want to have one of their own in order to prac tice, learn about them.

Englander's Pharmacy has affordable basic computers, tape recorders, disc drives, printers and programs such as the word processors, home budgeting, book keeping, chess, other games. Now is the time to get one & stay ahead, not have to catch up later. Englander's also has knowlegeable staff people who can answer your questions, help you through problems you may en counter while learning . such as 'debugging'.

BRIDGE UNDERGOES REPAIRS — HMF Enterprises' crews began repair work recently to the Bear Creek Bridge along Rt. 219. The company is contracted by the Maryland State Highway Administration to repair the bridge deck and concrete pillars. Bill Goldsborough, SHA county engineer, said the project is expected to take two months to complete. Traffic lights were installed to control one-way traffic across the bridge during the construction period.

I JUST WASHED MY EARS, AND I CAN'T DO A THING WITH THEM - This little lady is obviously frightened by the camera, but she'd be very relaxed in a new home just like yours. Her name is "Blackie" and she's a female beagle. Wouldn't you like to surprise a member of your family with a new pet? Just visit the Garrett County Animal Shelter, located on the Oakland-Sang Run Road, or call 334-3553. Last week's pet is only available until Friday morning. Won't you call today?

SOAP OPERA WEEK Athletic Steve Bond ends up in 'Hospital'

By Kimberly Redmond You'll probably never see Jimmy Lee Holt of "General Hospital" demonstrating his equestrian abilities on the small screen, but Steve Bond, the handsome actor who plays Jimmy Lee is an accomplished horseman Although raised in the heart of urban Los Angeles. Steve began breaking in horses after school at a Burbank, Calif., stable, and soon joined the Little Britches Rodeo. While in high school, he joined the professional circuit. His tro-

Syndication for 'Fame'; 'Silver Spoons' wedding?

By Peter Meade

Attention "Fame" fans: The now-canceled NBC series may be revived via the syndication route. MGM/UA Television plans to produce 24 new episodes featuring Debbie Allen and the gang of talented teen-Although the series never did make it big during its two-year run, it's popular in Europe - especially England - so that should help its sale. ABC's "Too Close for Comfort," which was also axed, hopes to survive comfortably in syndication next season. Rumor has it the principals have all taken pay cuts to keep the show afloat.

CBS Broadcast Group President Gene F. Jankowski says despite any amount of letters regarding the virtues of an already canceled series there is no chance it would ever be "uncanceled." He suggests that if you like a partic ular series that you extol its merits in December. "We make our schedule committment in March and April for the following fall," says Jankowski. Erin Gray admits there will probably be a marriage between her character. Kate Summers, and her boss, Edward Stratton (played by Joel Higgins), on next season's "Silver Spoons." She came pretty close to becoming Ricky Schroder's TV stepmom this past season, but the writers changed their minds. So if the ratings get any lower in '83-'84, count on a wedding. # Revised Policy For School Meals, Milk Announced

The Maryland State Department of Education announced last week the revised Income Eligibility Guidelines for free and reduced price meals and free milk. These guidelines will be in effect from July 1, 1983 through June 30, 1984.

Entitlement to free and reduced price meals or free milk is determined by family size and income. A child from a family of four, for example, will be entitled to a free lunch and/or breakfast, or where available a free milk, if the family's current income is below $12,870. Last year that figure was $12,090. Again this coming school year students will pay 40 cents for a reduced price lunch and/or 30 cents for a reduced price breakfast. A student is entitled to a reduced price meal if, for example, the income for a family of four is between $12,870 and $18,315. Last year's figures in that category were $12,090 to $17,210. These guidelines are used by schools, institutions, and centers participating in the National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs, Special Milk Programs, and Child Care Food Programs. Schools that participate in federally funded meal programs, such as the National School Lunch Program and School Breakfast Program, do not receive subsidy for one-half pints of milk. Separate servings of milk will

The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining and verifying eligibility. No child will be discriminated against because of race, color, sex, handicap or national origin

Because of new federal requirements, this year schools will have to verify income information contained on three percent of all approved applications for free and reduced price meals or free milk. Applications will not be verified until after they have been approved. The applications to be verified will be randomly selected using procedures developed by a committee made up of representatives from several of the state's school systems and other agencies. Households selected for verification will be notified by the school and told what type of documentation they will have to submit to prove that their income has been correctly reported on the

Independent Baptists Break Ground For New Church Building

The Good Shepherd Independent Baptist Church of Accident held groundbreaking services Sunday, July 17. The building site is located approximately two miles south of Accident along U.S. Rt. 219.

Pastor Dana Umbel had the honor of turning the first shovel of dirt and Raymond Brant gave a prayer of dedication. There were approximately 40 people in attendance.

The church was founded May 1 of this year and is a totally independent congregation. The members are at present meeting in the former Accident Elementary School Kindergarten building and hope to be in the new building by September.

Ginseng Season

Starts August 20

Maryland's annual ginseng gathering season will open August 20 and run through December 1, according to Robert Wood of the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Wood is the individual who issues the yearly ginseng gathering permits which have been required under Maryland law for the past few years.

The $2 state permits are needed by gatherers of the rare and fabled root to legally sell their harvest in commercial channels. Buyers are required under law to record the permit numbers and identifications of by exporters who cater to those

In 1982, according to Wood's records, some 136 collecting forests. permits for ginseng were issued in the state. Forty-four of the permit holders reported selling 84 pounds of root at an average price of $120 per pound.

"The plant is rare enough that a pound or two of dried roots represents a great deal of effort," Wood says, "and searching for ginseng is obviously not a way to become wealthy. It does provide a good excuse, if one is needed, to get out into the woods"

Wild, American ginseng, is prized in parts of the Orient and the best price for the root is paid their suppliers when they seek a markets. In Maryland, ginseng

Value Of State Farmland Falls, Rent Increases

UPI-The value of Maryland farmland fell by 10 percent last year, but the cost of renting agricultural land jumped 29 percent, state officials reported lower agricultural commodity

According to figures released by the Maryland Department of Agriculture, the current average price of farmland stands at $2,174 per acre, down from $2,416 in 1982 and $2,556 in 1981. The two years of price declines follow a 25 percent gain in Maryland farmland value from Jack Miller, a spokesman for the Maryland Farm Bureau, said he expects the lower land values will have "little effect" on the day-to-day operations of the average Maryland farmer.

Feed Grain Program Needs Public Input

Ideas and recommendations from farmers and other interested persons can help determine the direction of the 1984 feed grain program, according to William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

ASCS invites comments on whether next year's program should contain a voluntary acreage reduction percentage, payment-in-kind, set-aside or land diversion provisions. The written remarks should include the recommended extent of these requirements, Crum said.

"Farmers may also comment on whether to allow having and grazing of conservation use acreage, if an acreage reduction, set-aside or payment-inkind is necessary," he said.

The 1983 feed grain program contained a 10 percent acreage reduction, a 10 percent paid land diversion provision and a 10-30 percent payment-in-kind feature. All farmers with an established base who planted feed grain were eligible to East, according to local participate in the voluntary program. Those who signed up were eligible for land diversion payments, deficiency payments, price support loans and the PIK option. Other 1984 program decisions are whether barley should be determined eligible for payment under the program, whether malting barley should be exempt from any acreage reduction provision, whether to require offsetting compliance if an acreage reduction program is in effect, provisions of the grain reserve, appropriate loan and purchase levels, target price and national program

Crum said the feed grain comments must be received in the Washington ASCS office by August 23. Letters should be addressed to Howard C. Williams, Director, Analysis Division, USDA-ASCS, Room 3741-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C.

State To Help On Improvement Of Water Quality

Maryland Governor Harry Hughes announced this week that one of the state's responses to helping clean up the Programs proposes to modify Chesapeake Bay is ready to Discharge Permit No.: begin through a new state fund. 78-DP-1556 and MD0056316 of begin through a new state funded cost-share program to aid facility known as Mettiki Coal farmers in combating water pollution.

"I am particularly pleased with this program in that it brings two often-at-odds factions together in joint action to meet one of the challenges in ing chlorine or chlorine comfinding a Maryland way to solve pounds is prohibited." a problem that can no longer be begged off by lack of resources. Agriculture is taking a major step forward by committing itself to the goal of cleaning up the bay," the Governor said.

Funded with $5 million from a state bond issue, the program will be administered by the Maryland Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

According to Ms. Sharon E. Vereide, who will administer the program for MDA, its goal is to "assist farmers in improving water quality by helping them make needed conservation improvements."

Actual design of the improvements, which must be tailored to each participating farm, will be done by the staffs of the 24 local Soil Conservation District offices throughout the state which will take into consideration both the needs of the land and of the landowners.

Ms. Vereide says "to be eligible, you must be a landowner or tenant actively involved in the operation of a farm which has its land devoted to agricultural activity where the improvements proposed under cost-share aid will reduce pollutants from being delivered Continued on Page 36

The Office of Environmental in the nation may receive a not for West Virginia and probably not for the nation, according to Dennis K. Smith and Dale K. Colyer, West as follows Virginia University agricultural economists.

The strong financial picture of American agriculture overall is impressive, they believe. Total farm assets in the nation in 1982 were slightly more than a trillion dollars with debt at only about 18 percent of that amount, leaving American agriculture with an equity of almost $900 billion.

Farm assets in West Virginia showed an even brighter picture, according to Smith and Colyer. The debt was only around 10 percent of assets and it was used more for real estate purchases-about two-thirds of the debt load for the state compared to about half for the nation.

-Adv. 21-11. IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of husband and father Walter L. Kamp who passed away 15 years ago July 22, 1968. Christ has gone to prepare mansions in His heavenly home above. So His Saints may be with Him always. To forever abide in His love. There's a beautiful garden in Heaven where we will meet again some day: To live in the radiance of Jesus, because we have followed His way. The gates are set with pearls, the walls of many colors, the streets are paved with gold. . we'll walk and talk There . with each other. There's a beautiful crystal river, flowing pure and sparkling and clear. We'll hear the voice of Jesus as He loves and draws us near We'll hear the heavenly choir with their harps and voices so clear and sitting on the throne our Father who through life has drawn us near. This glorious home on high should be the goal
